INTRODUCTION

THIS is the ninth annual issue of the Canadian Trade Index. From a small handbook published many years ago, irregularly, and in many different forms, the 1933 edition has grown into an 856-page annual book.

A special feature of the 1933 edition is the inclusion of a 60-page Special Export Section provided by the Department of Trade and Commerce of the Dominion Government. Experienced exporting manufacturers have contributed articles outlining five main methods of doing export business.

The primary aim of the publishers is still maintained, namely, to provide all buyers of Canadian manufactured goods, in whatever country they may be, with a dependable list of the articles made in Canada and the names of the manufacturers making them.

It will be found that a very high percentage of manufacturers operating factories in Canada and having more than a local distribution of their products are listed.

A conscientious effort has been made to keep the work free from inaccuracies of all kinds.

The publication of this book, the only one of its kind in Canada, containing as it does the names of members and non-members alike, is one of the many general services rendered by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to the manufacturing community and the business public at large. The continuance of old and new features will prove most valuable in keeping Canadian users fully informed respecting goods Produced in Canada and in putting importers in other countries expeditiously and efficiently in touch with Canadian sources of supply.

It is the publishers' keen desire to make this book absolutely accurate. Silent criticism does not assist them. If there are inaccuracies in any particular, kindly bring the matter to the attention of the Editor.

The publishers reiterate their desire to offer their readers the service of the Commercial Intelligence Department which keeps in touch with industrial developments and welcomes enquiries with respect to both domestic and export trade.

It is not fitting to close this introduction without tendering grateful thanks to the officers of many public bodies, municipal and governmental departments, and to the manufacturers furnishing the information on which the book is based for their careful and courteous co-operation which assists so much in making the Canadian Trade Index an authoritative account of productive activity in Canada.

FINANCING EXPORT TRADE 159

PRINCIPAL STATISTICS OF FORTY LEADING INDUSTRIES IN CANADA 132

Commercial Banking

The Canadian Bank of Commerce is now financing Canadian industry and trade by loans of 30 millions to manufacturers and distributors of farm products;

35 millions to other manufacturers;
20 millions to wholesale and retail trade, in addition to the millions required to finance farmers and other primary producers, financial companies, governments and municipalities.

We ever seek to enlarge the sphere of our usefulness by making new friends among the enterprising business men of Canada, and by facilitating the settlement of new industries in the Dominion.

Our resources are able to satisfy any legitimate demand of our borrowing customers.

A Complete Banking Service for Exporters and Importers

The Imperial Bank of Canada welcomes the promise of increased intra-Empire trading contained in the agreements made between Canada and each of its partner nations in the British Commonwealth.

The Bank is equipped to play its part in the practical implementing of these agreements. Branches in Canada serve every field of economic activity from the production of raw materials to manufacturing, and from agriculture to mineral development. Banking connections with strong financial institutions in Empire and other countries afford the best financial link between Canadian exporters and foreign importers.

Mathews Conveyer Systems

Conveying has become a science, for no piece of equipment can be taken down from "off the shelf" with the assurance that it will fit any particular job. For that reason, Mathews has specialized in the design and construction of complete systems—most of them consisting of varied types of conveyers—to meet the handling requirements of the plants in which they are installed.
Some of the units that go to make up a complete system are briefly described here. More detailed descriptions and many special units are shown in the Mathews Catalog which will be sent on request.

Mathews Gravity Roller Conveyers

Rollers, bearings, frame rails and supports for Mathews Gravity Roller Conveyer are built in a wide variety of sizes and types for loads ranging from 20 to 5000 lbs. per roller.
Some are of special construction for use where moisture proof, acid-resistant or high temperature equipment is required.

Mathews Belt Conveyers

The construction of Mathews Belt Conveyers provides for standard roller conveyer units under the load surface of the belt, or where the product to be handled requires sheet metal or wood slider board.

Mathews Trolley Conveyers

Trolley wheels of pressed steel and cast iron; chains of malleable iron and drop forged steel; numerous supports, brackets, and hooks make Mathews Trolley Conveyers adaptable to almost any overhead conveying requirements.

Mathews Chain Elevators

For the automatic lifting and lowering of materials, Mathews has designed a number of chain elevators that are now being used in scores of different industries. These units are described in detail in the Mathews Catalog.

Mathews Chain Conveyers

Both malleable and steel chains are used in Mathews Chain Conveyers, which have a distinct field of application and are adaptable for use where resistance to high temperature, water, abrasion and the ability to convey goods on steep inclines is required. The Pallet Conveyer, with its moving bed of metal or wood, has the widest usage of the conveyers in this group.

Mathews Sheet Metal Spiral Chutes

Sheet metal of various gauges, according to the purpose to which the equipment is to be put, is used in Mathews Spiral Chutes. These chutes are built to fit the particular plants where installation is to be made. They are used for fire escapes as well as material handling.

The Drive-On No-Mar Rests

are superior to casters. They present a larger surface to the floor or rug than casters and thus do not mark floors.

The "Drive-On" is offered as original equipment to furniture manufacturers — Saves boring holes and driving in sockets—Driving tool furnished. Made in four sizes. A size for all furniture.

THE SOCKET TYPE

The Stem No-Mar

Made for replacement where casters are already installed. Simply pull out the old, broken, worn or squeaky casters, push in a No-Mar Rest—No more scratched floors. No more noise—No more trouble.

No-Mars have been tried, tested and approved by Chatelaine Institute.

Tested and Approved by SERIAL O—■ NO. 36 The Chatelaine Institute MAINTAINED BY The Chatelaine Magazine

Made in Four Sizes.

FOR METAL BEDS

No-Mar Rests for Metal Beds

A socket or spring attachment for all sizes of bed tubing. No-Mars are made of a special moulded material. Make your beds modern—Saves your floors—Slides as easily as casters roll. No-Mar Rests are made for domestic trade also for export trade.

NO-MAR CUP

No-Mar Furniture Cups

For use under beds, radiators, gas stoves, electric stoves. Move freely, won't break, won't scratch. Write for catalogue—Dealers' discounts.

STORAGE TANKS

Field-erected steel tanks for the storage of either liquids or solids or for special process work. Our standard sizes can ordinarily be utilized. In the smaller capacities we make prompt shipment on shop-assembled cylindrical tanks in either riveted or welded construction. Pipe connections, openings or special fittings as specified.

STEEL PLATEWORK

We carefully follow your specifications or shall be glad to have our engineers co-operate in building special steel platework such as digesters, breechings, chutes, kilns, hoppers and refuse burners. Steel is fabricated in our modern plant and erected by experienced field crews in any part of Canada or Newfoundland.

Ask our nearest office for information or quotations on any of this type of work you contemplate installing.

Speed Reducers

Used wherever High Speed Power is applied to Low Speed use

Worm gear and herringbone gear units, in single and multiple reduction, are made in a wide range of sizes. Send for catalogue on either of these types, listing standard sizes, with power capacities and detail specifications. These are high grade, heavy duty gear drives, designed and rated for 24 hour continuous service. Ratios are available up to four thousand to one in simple, efficient, self-contained units.

Car Pullers

We make a full line of geared Car Pullers and a variety of Winches, in both bollard and drum types, horizontal and vertical, worm geared and herringbone geared, with or without outboard bearing or brake. Write us as to your needs.

The Compensating Joint

Silent Chain Drives

The Hamilton-Ramsey silent chain (made in Canada) will operate at higher speeds and run smoother and with less wear than any competing chain because of the compensating rolling cam action in the patented Ramsey joint. 24-hour delivery, in 3/8" to 1½" pitch.

International Harvester Tractors and Motor Trucks

The city of Hamilton's fleet of International trucks. These units are engaged in garbage collection and delivery to the incinerator.

McCormick-Deering TracTracTors for industrial use are built in two sizes, developing 18 and 33 drawbar horsepower respectively.

The International Harvester Company of Canada, Limited, operates three large plants in Canada. The Harvester Works and Twine Mill, together with the general offices, are located in Hamilton, while the motor truck factory is situated in Chatham. Twenty Company-owned and operated branch houses are located in the principal cities of Canada and thousands of local dealers dot the country from coast to coast. This represents a very large pay roll and a tremendous investment in Canada's future.

The fact that so many prominent industries have chosen International trucks and McCormick - Deering tractors to shoulder their transportation and hauling burdens is a tribute to the efficiency and economy of these sturdy units. Thirteen models and capacities of trucks and four sizes of industrial tractors provide a choice from which a unit can be selected to meet almost any conceivable need. There are two McCormick-Deering TracTracTors and two of the round-wheel type which can be equipped with solid rubber or pneumatic tires or dual wheels. A wide variety of attachments and equipment is available. Our catalog illustrating and describing the full line of International trucks, industrial tractors and equipment will be sent free on request.

Lines of Gatineau Power Co., Ottawa, Ont.

Galvanized steel structures manufactured in our plant have been used in all the important transmission lines in Canada and in many lines in other countries. Excellence in design, materials and workmanship ensures maximum economy in construction, operation and maintenance. For over twenty years we have maintained separate shops for manufacturing such structures, and in 1931 a new and unusually efficient plant was put in operation. The new plant covers nearly fifteen acres and has a normal capacity of 3,000 tons per month.

Our long experience and exceptional facilities for designing and fabricating galvanized steel transmission towers and similar structures, both for domestic and export work, is at your service.

MONEL METAL

Monel Metal is a registered trade mark applied to a technically controlled Nickel-Copper alloy containing approximately two-thirds Nickel and one-third Copper. Monel Metal is mined, smelted, refined, rolled and marketed solely by International Nickel.

Characteristics. Monel is a beautiful white metal closely resembling platinum in color. It is corrosion-resisting, will not rust. It is clean, bright, sanitary. Monel Metal is strong and tough as steel and will resist wear and abrasion to an unusual degree. Because it is so close-textured it does not absorb colors or odors and is thus particularly suitable for food service and for use in the textile industry where dyes are being handled.

Principal Uses

- Chemical and Textile Plants
- Food Processing Plants
- Food Service Equipment
- In The Home
- Laundry and Dry Cleaning Plants
- Architectural Metal Work
- Propeller Shafts and Turbine Blades
- Pickling Equipment
- Valve Parts Directly Subjected to Steam
- Salt Refineries

PART 1

Special Export Section

This Special Export Section, consisting of general review of Canada's trade and other related data, will, it is hoped, prove useful both to Canadian exporters and to their friends abroad who import Canadian goods.

The Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, Canada, provided the material for this section, with the assistance of the Departments concerned.

Canada's Minister of Trade and Commerce

The Hon. H. H. Stevens, M.P., Minister of Trade and Commerce, Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, Ontario.

Some of the Officers of the Department

James G. Parmelee, O.B.E., Deputy Minister of Trade & Commerce
K. G. Chamberlain, Assistant Deputy Minister of Trade & Commerce
L. D. Wilgress, Director, Commercial Intelligence Service
R. H. Coats, Dominion Statistician
Wm. Gilchrist, Chief, Foreign Tariffs Division
H. E. M. Chisholm, Director of Publicity

Export Service of Canadian Government

The Canadian Trade Commissioner Service, operating under the auspices of the Department of Trade and Commerce of the Government of Canada from the capital, Ottawa, is a service of great value at the free disposal of Canadians.

The members of the Canadian Government Commercial Intelligence Service who serve abroad are called Canadian Trade Commissioners. It rarely occurs that a name so adequately describes the office they hold as does the name Canadian Trade Commissioners. They are Canadian. They must represent Canada in the territory allotted to them for purposes that other countries represented in the same country may appoint ambassadors, consuls, commercial attaches, and trade commissioners to accomplish. The Canadian Trade Commissioners may be called upon, within limits, to take the place for Canada in their territory of any or all of the above mentioned officials of other countries. Therefore, they must be men of education, character, experience and ability so that in public and private appearances they will be worthy representatives of the country that sends them, and so that they may mingle on an even footing personally with the most important people socially and politically in the country to which they are accredited. The public impression that these men make, necessarily, has considerable bearing on the formation of favorable public opinion about Canada in the country to which they go. So much for Canadian.

Now for Trade. They are Trade Commissioners in a very wide sense. The impression of integrity and ability that they convey to public men and officials, business men and the general public in their territory can easily be of striking importance to the development of the trade of Canada. Various general duties are imposed on them in addition to the public side of their activities. Depending on the personality and general agreeableness of the man himself, a Canadian Trade Commissioner may be called upon to advise with the government officers of other countries with respect to impending changes in the Customs tariff or import regulations of the country to which he is allotted. He may be called upon by courtesy to advise with respect to Canadian experience in new and untried questions coming up in his territory. He is called upon to protect the rights and privileges of Canadian citizens and interests abroad. He must have the experience and ability to select from a mass of statistical information, compiled in his territory, the essential factors that will convey to Canadian readers a correct and adequate picture of the economic conditions in export markets. Or if the economic information is not sufficiently adequate, he must be able to devise satisfactory alternative methods of supplying this general need.

SEE INDEX OF SUBJECTS, PAGES 5 AND 112

He is required to be reasonably well informed respecting the production and commercial conditions surrounding many classes of individual businesses in order that he may be of practical service to individual Canadian exporters whose definite enquiries have been encouraged by the policy of the Department of Trade and Commerce. "Trade" is a very concrete and practical thing. A title which includes that word can fairly be expected to apply to a man, who besides having characteristics that will enable him to take a leading part in the community in which he lives on behalf of Canada, can and will devote the major portion of his time to the concrete development of trade from Canada.

We speak loosely about Canada's export trade. It is Canada's, in the broad sense. Yet our trade, after all, is only the sum of all the individual transactions that take place between Canadian exporters and importers in other countries aided by the intelligent and devoted work of the Department of Trade and Commerce, other Government Departments, the Government as a whole. The Trade Commissioners are the dynamos that transmit the power back into Canada again by concerning themselves closely with the extension of intelligent and well-directed aid in the establishment of agencies and other useful means of initiating and increasing the sum total of individual transactions between Canadian exporters and importers abroad.

The next word is Commissioner. The most usual mental association that the man on the street has with a commission is a percentage or payment proceeding from the sale of goods. Very different is the Commission or Commissioner in the title Canadian Trade Commissioner. Here, of course, it is used in the sense that he is a person to whom something is committed. What is committed to the Trade Commissioners? There are certain duties committed to them by the Government who appoint them. Some of these have already been touched on. The commercial good name of Canada is committed to them for safe-keeping in other countries. It is, then, clearly indicated that education, character, ability and experience of a high type is required if the duties of the office are to be carried out to the full satisfaction of the Government and of the business community. Such high requirements when fulfilled, as they very frequently are, in the Service as at present constituted, should deserve the fullest consideration of the Minister and of the Government in the way of honorable position, co-operative support, emolument, living and travelling allowances to enable them effectively to search their fields to the uttermost, and proper provision for retiring allowances after long and successful service. Any one entering the Trade Commissioner Service and doing really effective work in it makes certain sacrifices. He divorces himself from his Canadian home and associates. A man who can make a real success of a Trade Commissioner's office would probably also by devoting the same energy and intelligence in private employment reach a position of financial comfort unattainable in Government service, yet by devoting himself conscientiously and strictly to his duties he may partially unfit himself in later years for purely private enterprise. They are required to let the honor of a Government position take the place to a certain extent of increased financial return. It is therefore important that the conditions under which they work should be maintained at a continuously high level.

The experience of Canadian exporters, both from a general and from an individual point of view, with the Canadian Trade Commissioner Service and the growth and development of our export trade over a course of years with many countries due at least partially to the direct and indirect services of the Canadian Trade Commissioners, has been so generally satisfactory that it seems logical to expect that a further extension of this branch of the service on an improved basis will result in a continued increase in Canada's export trade, a consummation much to be desired.

Through frequent use of the personnel of the Service at Ottawa, and at their various posts throughout the world, many Canadian manufacturers have benefited greatly through the information received and through sound connections which the Trade Commissioners have assisted in obtaining.

Special reports covering their respective territories on particular commodities will be prepared by the Trade Commissioners either on application to Ottawa or direct to the offices of Trade Commissioners on page 139 of this section. In order to enable the Trade Commissioners intelligently to answer requests, it is essential that manufacturers should outline their merchandising proposition in all its aspects fully in their first letter. All communications of this nature received by the Commercial Intelligence Service are held as confidential and the information only used without divulging its source to obtain concrete and definite answers to the enquiries made.

The Commercial Intelligence Department of the Canadian Manufacturers Association co-operates fully and cordially with the Department of Trade and Commerce and is prepared to render any service within its power for the extension of Canada's Export Trade.

Five Methods of Doing Export Business

On the following pages will be found pithy articles from the pens of experienced Canadian exporters who know whereof they write and who have proved by the results they have obtained that their methods are correct.

Not having been concerned in the writing of these articles we can therefore speak freely and say that we know of whole books that have been written about export that contain less meat than these five articles on Export Methods. There is more of the philosophy and technique of Export summed up in them than in many much more diffuse volumes.

These special articles do not include all the known methods, but they do cover the majority of recognized methods that have proved successful in Canada so far. Many firms operate combinations of these methods depending on the various types of markets to which they are catering. Each of them ought to be considered in the light of the special characteristics of one's own business and of the possible proportions to which the export side of it may be expected to grow.

It is submitted that if a man is an experienced exporter he will, despite his experience, be the gainer by reading all these articles. If he has additional material he would like to submit on any of these subjects, it will be gratefully welcomed. If he is not an experienced exporter there is much food for thought, consideration and advantage in each of the articles. If not experienced, he should carefully discriminate among the various methods before planning to put any one of them into practice. If he is still in doubt after reading these concentrated articles, we shall be glad to discuss the subject of export trade further with him or put him in touch with several experienced exporters who will be glad to talk things over with him before a decision is made as to the best plan to be followed.

Among these five methods there is a complete range from the comparatively simple task of handling a highly specialized line by mail and the co-operation of Trade Commissioners to the handling of a very wide range of articles all used in the same trade by means of the establishment of wholesale branches of the Canadian house abroad.

Each of them has its dangers and difficulties as well as advantages and each of them is specially suited to certain general classes of business or types of required distribution in export markets. Each of them also has its merits and advantages. Experiences, both in failure and in success, in many Canadian export attempts give the clearest indication that the relationship of the business to the method to be followed is worthy of most careful consideration.

For many years, the policy has been advocated with increasing success of having principals or chief executives of Canadian companies combine business and pleasure in travelling abroad to visit countries that constitute a possible market for their product, make contacts with leading people socially and in business, enlist the aid of Canadian Legations and Trade Commissioners, see the place and the people for himself, sense its possibilities as a market, confirm that impression by concrete facts and information, open preliminary negotiations for actual testing of the market and return with reasoned basis for belief in export trade and a renewed will to gain export markets and to help others to do so.

Personal observation still remains the best preliminary to the inauguration of successful export business, particularly to those who will not allow carefully gleaned information and a controlled use of the imagination to substitute wholly for personal observation.

The initial cost of these preliminary steps may seem high and actually they may be out of the question in some cases, though occasionally large expenditures of this kind have proved to be a most successful investment.

The articles on Methods 3, 4 and 5 outline plans whereby Canadian exporters can develop and have developed a good volume of export trade in many markets throughout the world without undertaking much special travel. The lack of it, however, does entail either the gathering of greater funds of detailed information about the markets to be entered, the use of imagination or, in other words, the putting of the exporter in the place of the importer abroad and seeing what is necessary to satisfy him in the conduct of business transactions between two business organizations in different countries with different customs and methods and perhaps ten thousand miles apart. The only other substitute is to take the greatest care in the selection of the representatives or agents and trust them to act for you as you would for your firm if you were in their place.

All of which means that personal study and personal relationship is as important, if not more so, in export business as in domestic trade.

METHOD NO. 1

(Contributed)

Development of an Export Trade Through Branches in Other Countries, Owned by the Parent Exporting Manufacturer in Canada.

(Suitable for companies with a diversified product, most or all of which can find extensive export markets subjected to world-wide competition.)

The manufacturer who is endeavouring to build up an export trade to provide an increased and permanent outlet for his products and not simply looking for a channel through which to dispose of some surplus stock provided for domestic trade or to take up some plant capacity temporarily available should consider carefully the advisability of doing so through his own branches abroad, provided, of course, that his line is of a nature to warrant this consideration.

In contemplating the organization of a branch in a foreign country a great many conditions require to be taken into consideration. The territory should therefore be carefully surveyed to ascertain not only the present demand for his product but the possibility of increase in this demand for the future and how this increase is to come about. The state of the local industry and the competition therefrom, as well as competition from other sources requires to be looked into; also the possibility of securing a sufficient number of dealers of a satisfactory type to handle the lines; the general financial standing of these dealers and their attitude toward meeting obligations when due. Study should also be made of local preferences and prejudices, as it is surprising the influence these have in some parts of the world. Customs Tariffs and the possibility of revisions thereto; location for branch headquarters at a point where there are ample facilities at reasonable cost for the reception and storage of bulk stocks, as well as convenient and adequate transportation service for distribution, also require to be looked into. These, and a number of other matters which will suggest themselves, should be carefully investigated in order to give the question intelligent consideration and arrive at a decision.

If, after investigation, the manufacturer is satisfied that a sufficient demand for his product exists in a certain country and is also satisfied that conditions generally would warrant consideration being given to the establishing of a branch selling organization there, then the advantages and disadvantages of the branch system will require to be carefully weighed.

Marketing through a branch selling organization presents several advantages:

1.—The entire effort of the selling organization is concentrated on the one line and there are therefore no diverting interests as is frequently the case where a jobbing house handles a large range of goods. The manufacturer's products under the branch system cannot at any time be treated as a side line to be ignored when goods returning a greater margin of profit can be sold. Travellers and salesmen are not tempted to follow the line of least resistance as is possible where they have optional lines to offer to a dealer.

2.—If a line is one requiring service of any kind, the manufacturer can ensure his own and his customers' interests being properly cared for by providing a service staff having a thorough and expert knowledge of his goods, and it is recognized that an efficient service, where required, brings increased trade.

3.—A branch selling organization enables a manufacturer to keep more closely in touch with the requirements of the market and therefore be in a position to meet, or even anticipate, changing demands on the part of the purchasing public.

4.—In operating through a branch selling organization, the manufacturer can plan and carry on an advertising and selling campaign best suited to the sale of his lines and is free to take such action as he may consider necessary to meet any unusual conditions which may arise from time to time without having to depend upon or to consider first the interests of the importing jobber.

5.—From the standpoint of financial risk, instead of having one or two large accounts, the manufacturer will have a number of smaller accounts scattered throughout the country. In the opinion of many, a number of smaller accounts is an advantage as, after all, there is something to be said in favour of not putting the eggs all in one basket.

SEE INDEX OF SUBJECTS, PAGES 5 AND 112

6.—It is reasonable to expect that the expense involved in the operating of a branch selling organization could be met by the additional margin obtained through selling direct to the dealers instead of to a large importing jobber. Even if the Branch could not do better than break even on its operations, the manufacturer would still have the advantage of his manufacturing profit on a larger volume.

7.—An esprit de corps can be developed which is a valuable asset in any selling organization.

There are, of course, some disadvantages, for instance:

1.—During a seasonal slackness or a period of temporary depression, when the demand for the manufacturer's particular product may drop off, the selling organization is handicapped through not having other lines with which to fill in.

2.—The necessity of carrying stocks which, in dealing with a large importing jobber, would very likely have been sold outright. This carrying of stocks also involves the making of provision against obsolescence.

3.—The handling and following up of numerous smaller accounts.

4.—A somewhat increased overhead at headquarters because of the necessity for executive supervision.

There are no doubt other disadvantages, some more applicable to one line than to another; however, the advantages of operating through a branch selling organization would appear to much more than offset the disadvantages, assuming, of course, that the manufacturer's line is sufficiently large and varied, the demand sufficient, and conditions generally favourable to operating in this way.

Except for the Chief Executive and perhaps one or two key men, an overseas branch should be staffed by men who speak the language of the country and who have an intimate knowledge of the country, its requirements, the people and their customs. The Branch Manager, or Chief Executive, should be one who is thoroughly familiar with the Company's products and policies and one who possesses good sound judgment. Located as he usually is, thousands of miles away from headquarters, he is frequently called upon to deal with important problems requiring prompt attention, which cannot be conveniently or adequately discussed with his Head Office by telegraph or even by telephone, which is now available.

Several Canadian companies are already operating through branch houses abroad. No doubt any of them would be willing to assist other manufacturers contemplating operating in the same way by supplying whatever information they may have available.

METHOD NO. 2

(Contributed)

Development of Export Trade Through Resident Agents or Representatives Visited at Intervals by Executive of Canadian Exporting Manufacturer.

(An excellent method that has worked out successfully in many lines as it provides for gradual growth and expansion, coupled with establishment of close personal relations with representatives and informing travel by export executive and an interchange of visits to the plant by representatives. This should be read in close conjunction with Method No. 3, with which it is closely allied.)

From a sales standpoint there are many advantages in having a resident agent, particularly if it is possible to have him visit the plant, get thoroughly acquainted with the product by closely following up through all stages of manufacture, meet the personnel of the Company, familiarise himself with the method of packing and general handling of export shipments.

A few of these advantages are as follows:

(1) A resident agent can approach customers with more confidence in the product as he is able to converse freely in the language of the country. From personal experience in the Far East and

SEE INDEX OF SUBJECTS, PAGES 5 AND 112

Continent of Europe, have found in many cases difficulty in getting anywhere on account of not being able to speak the language.

(2) A resident agent can keep principals posted on competitive lines and demands for necessary improvements to meet market conditions.

(3) Is in the position to revise and add to mailing lists of already established and prospective customers.

(4) Being in close touch with the financial standing of customers is able to take action on principal's behalf in the event of collection difficulties. In this connection might mention we give our resident agents authority to act on our behalf. If draft is refused, instead of costly cables and delays, it is immediately referred to the resident agent for further instructions.

(5) Is able to transfer shipments in event of disputes. In one or two cases, after shipment had left Canada, it was necessary to hold up on account of credit, which was taken care of by cable and turned over to resident agent for disposal elsewhere.

(6) Is in the position to investigate orders or enquiries which may be received by principals direct.

The advantages of visiting resident agents, as the writer sees them, are many; preferably the President, Vice-President, General Manager, or Sales Manager, as in most cases it is best to make a decision on the spot so to speak. Naturally it is better that this executive should be in close touch with the Export Department.

Visits of this kind bring the line up to date, establish confidence between agents and principals, in addition to getting first hand information as to the class of house from which orders are being received.

Might I repeat again it is very desirable if possible, to have the agent visit the factory. The executive can very often obtain information regarding the sale of competitive lines which the agent does not always seem able to obtain. Manufacturing information can very often be picked up. A general size-up of the agent's ability and his connections can be intelligently made. How often have we sized up a man by correspondence and on making his acquaintance found a totally different person than we had pictured.

In some cases the resident agent is the most economical way of conducting export business, providing, of course, you have a real live agent. There is not any definite rule that I know of to select agents or representatives. I recall one time in Australia, of interviewing a resident agent who was not interested, but later on was approached by the same firm's branch in another city, by one of their Directors who saw possibilities in our line. The firm in question turned out to be live representatives.

There seems to be some element of luck in selecting agents or representatives. In order to avoid liability it might be better to classify as resident representatives not resident agents.

METHOD NO. 3

(Contributed)

Development of Export Trade Through Resident Agents Abroad With No Personal Visits by a Representative of the Canadian Exporting Manufacturer.

(A very large number of Canadian manufacturers use this method, gradually moving towards Method No. 2, which supplements and strengthens it.)

The policy of appointing a resident Agent abroad without any personal supervision from a representative is one which is attended with many risks and much dissatisfaction unless preceded beforehand by a very careful investigation into.

(1) The standing of the individual or Company in the business community.

SEE INDEX OF SUBJECTS, PAGES 5 AND 112

(2) His or their financial responsibility.

(3) Integrity.

(4) Business capabilities.

(5) Number and kind of other lines carried.

Too often the manufacturer looking for export business will accept the first application received for an agency arrangement, without making the ordinary investigations which would be made upon receipt of a similar application on the domestic market. Even at the present time applications are constantly being received by exporters from many bright and well-intentioned people who, after seeing or hearing of a new line, think they can sell it against old and established importing agencies who have probably controlled their market on this line for a great many years and who if approached by some obscure individual with a competitive line would give it scant consideration. It is, therefore, vitally necessary that the business standing of an individual or company should be known, in order for your product to receive fair and impartial consideration.

This will also protect the intending exporter from the unscrupulous type of individual who sends in his application under an assumed company name, on very elaborately got up business note paper, with the intention of obtaining a good set of samples for nothing.

What emphasis should be placed on financial responsibility will depend entirely on whether the agent is going to act on a purely commission basis, merely soliciting orders and passing them on to the manufacturer for shipping and financing, or to buy direct himself and in turn resell to the trade.

The integrity of an agent should be unquestionable, because any suspicion of sharp practices would immediately reflect on the company appointing the agent, and result in a definite restriction and loss of trade.

The business capability of the proposed agent should also be scrutinized; there should be a reputation for being thoroughly acquainted with all lines carried, ability to promote sales, judicious in the selection of customers and the granting of credit risks. Much profitable export business can easily be turned into serious and heavy losses unless the latter requirement is carefully followed.

Then it is very essential to know the number and kind of other lines carried, to ascertain if they are in any way complementary or competitive. It may be that the applicant is already carrying too many lines and it has been found in practice that there is a tendency to push only those lines easy to sell, or giving the greatest remuneration. Even if the agent is thoroughly reliable, it is difficult to become thoroughly acquainted with every item carried, with the result that the added new lines may suffer in comparison with the older ones. Often an agent will undertake to carry a competitive line just to prevent some other agent more favourably placed from obtaining it, sending in just sufficient orders to create the impression that an effort is being made to place the line on the market, but at the same time actually throttling its development.

There is no difficulty in obtaining resident agents overseas as an advertisement in any export Journal will bring a host of applicants, the majority of whom will guarantee to handle the line offered in the most efficient manner. The problem to solve is to be able to pick out from the replies received the one who will handle your line most successfully.

A much safer way is to entrust your agent problem to the Canadian Trade Commissioners, seeking their advice after giving them full information about your product.

It is not to be suggested that the right person or company will always be selected and in order to guard against errors of judgment and to protect them as far as possible, it would be advisable to limit the contract of any new agent appointed to one or two years, during which time you will have ample opportunity to check up and study the results obtained. If not satisfactory, the contract can then be broken off at the end of the stipulated period.

From the above it is very obvious that only the best type of individual or company should be chosen as your representative and the success or failure to open up an export market will depend very materially upon this.

The decision to appoint an individual or a company will depend to a great extent on the nature of the commodity to be exported, the distribution desired, and the extent of the market. In some countries it may be advisable to confine your agency to a large company who are in touch with all wholesale outlets, and while this may restrict the distribution, it has this compensation that credit risk is practically reduced to a minimum, and in some cases goods are paid for immediately upon receipt at the usual cash terms. Should it be the policy of the exporter to place his goods through as many outlets as possible, then the individual agent provides the best possible medium because he buys nothing for himself but simply solicits orders for the manufacturer and the greatest advantage lies in the ability of such a man to get business for his principals, from all possible buyers in his field. Another added advantage is that being constantly on the ground, he is able to take immediate advantage of every opportunity the moment it arises, and to adjust troubles and complaints that are almost certain to arise in the conduct of any business, whether it is foreign or domestic. Furthermore, there is bound to arise the question of extended and disputed drafts and he can safeguard payments and collections for his principals.

The agent's duties are not confined only to the securing of orders and some of his time will have to be spent in adjusting difficulties as they arise, also explaining away injudicious letters from the home office, for oftentimes a good connection is lost through a lack of tact and courtesy on the part of the sender.

The chief disadvantage in appointing an agent without personal supervision lies in the almost impossibility of making him or them acquainted with changes in business policy by means of a letter, no matter how well constructed it may be. It is then that close personal contact can explain away in a few minutes any misgivings held, what otherwise may take several letters spread over a considerable period. When export business is being operated at little or no profit it is difficult to explain by letter why an advertising allowance cannot be made or unreasonable claims accepted.

In summing up, it can safely be said that satisfactory business can be obtained by this method, although of course it will always lack that undefinable something which always comes with personal contact.

METHOD NO. 4

(Contributed)

The Development of Export Trade Through Export Merchants, Export Buying Houses or Indent Houses.

(This method or really two methods in one, with many similar characteristics, offers a wide field for certain varieties of products but if used solely should be chosen with the utmost discretion. The Indent House Method can fit in by consent with Methods two and three and can be attempted simultaneously.

Co-operation with reliable indent houses in suitable cases provides a means of training members of manufacturers' staffs in export technique and provides specialized selling and personal contacts in export markets while retaining the identity of manufacturers goods through to the customer.

In the "Export Merchants" discussion prospective exporters would do well to ponder seriously over the disadvantages mentioned.)

There are many manufacturers in Great Britain who have been able to secure a splendid volume of business overseas without ever having had even an export department of their own. They have secured this business through London houses operating as Export Merchants or through London Indent firms.

EXPORT MERCHANTS operate really as Export Wholesale Houses. They make an arrangement with a Manufacturer by which they will have the control of anything he makes that may be shipped overseas. If the Manufacturer receives an enquiry from abroad, he refers it to this Export Merchant. The Merchant buys for cash from the Manufacturer and turns around and quotes the merchandise to firms overseas at a price that will give him a profit. He takes all the credit responsibility and even arranges for proper distribution in any market where there would seem to be a demand for this particular product. He has Representatives who travel to different countries in the world and in this way keeps in touch with his connections abroad.

There are many advantages to the Manufacturer from handling his export business in this manner:

SEE INDEX OF SUBJECTS, PAGES 5 AND 112

1. It costs him nothing to sell his goods. He may at times find it necessary to supply something in the way of samples but this is likely to be a small matter and if it really amounts to something, he can usually arrange to supply the samples at regular prices, less a sample discount.

2. He sells for cash and has no credit risk. Manufacturers are often concerned and rightly so, about the credit standing of firms overseas who may wish to buy their goods. Selling to the Export Merchant, he gets his money even sooner than for domestic sales.

3. He avoids the necessity of having an export department in his business. The Export Merchant looks after all details of shipping, insurance and invoicing and all the Manufacturer has to do is to ship his goods to Seaboard as directed and submit ordinary domestic invoices. The overseas correspondence is conducted by the Export Merchant, who is competent to look after this even if it be in a foreign language.

4. He increases the volume of business passing through his plant and in this way lowers his unit cost of production. This enables him to compete more successfully in his own market.

The disadvantages of this method are not great. There are one or two features that should be considered:

1. He will probably not know his customers overseas and if for any reason, the Export Merchant breaks his connection, he may lose his overseas business. However, the Export Merchant is not likely to do this so long as he gets good treatment from the Manufacturer. It costs money to develop a market and no one wishes to have to do it with a new product if he already has one established.

2. He will need to make sure that the Export Merchant has a distinct possibility to get business for it has been known to happen that representation of a line has been gotten to keep it off the market. For that reason, it should only be given for an initial period of not too long so that if business does not result, he can take other means to get it.

INDENT FIRMS are really Buying Houses or Purchasing Houses in one country for firms located in other countries overseas. Many overseas firms prefer to have all their business attended to by their own buying offices located in centres of countries where manufacturing industries are plentiful. Such firms as these are often a good means of getting manufactured goods introduced to their overseas clients.

1. They usually buy for first class firms only.
2. They pay cash for all purchases.
3. They attend to all details of shipping, insurance, invoicing and correspondence.

On the other hand:

1. They take no responsibility for sales at all but simply place orders on definite instructions received from their clients.

2. They buy only for their own clients and it may be possible there are other firms in overseas countries who might be interested in the goods. The indent houses will not offer the goods for sale to other than their own clients. Their distribution therefore is limited unless a Manufacturer is dealing with a number of Indent Houses operating in the same overseas markets.

The number of Export Merchants and Indent Firms in Canada has been limited, due probably to the fact that it is only comparatively recently that Canadian Manufactured goods have been shipped in volume and variety to overseas markets. It is only reasonable to expect that their numbers will increase and in this way, there will be offered to Canadian Manufacturers a method of securing export business that is sound, economical and safe.

METHOD NO. 5

(Contributed)

Development of Export Trade Direct by Mail.

(This method though useful for highly specialized products marketed to well-rated and substantial customers is fraught with many dangers unless subjected to the closest analysis. It is true it grows gradually to the point of becoming exactly like Method No. 3, but the initial stages of attempting to do business direct by mail, without previous intense and discriminating selection of risks, are full of pitfalls and form a pretext for the propagation of many useless schemes.)

SEE INDEX OF SUBJECTS, PAGES 5 AND 112

Many Canadian industries, organized primarily to supply their domestic market, do not have the large organization nor the facilities necessary to maintain branches or even direct agents handling only their products in foreign markets.

In these days of specialization, the products of many plants must sometimes be sold in the export markets by commission agents handling kindred lines in order to spread the selling expense over sufficient volume to make export sales profitable. In fact, modern practice has resulted in many plants making only one particular line of goods often of interest only to some one trade or profession. Often this means a field so restricted it does not pay the producer to seek export business through ordinary channels. However, such specialized lines usually have the advantage of being of special interest and usefulness to certain definitely known trades or professions. Lists of prospects for such lines can be obtained and trade solicited in foreign, almost as easily as in the domestic market. It is possible in this way to eliminate expensive selling costs and create a demand for such goods as will permit some responsible agent to stock or supply them profitably.

Of course, wherever this is practical, a selling agent right on the ground is always much better and more satisfactory. A good agent can create connections not obtainable by mail and can always learn why prospects are not interested or correct any misunderstanding which no amount of correspondence might bring out. It is no different in foreign markets than at home. Every purchaser takes the easiest way and will usually pay more to be relieved of all details of which he knows little or nothing.

The local agent has special advantages over direct-by-mail solicitation in countries using other than the English language. A good agent will speak fluently the one or more languages used and can usually translate special instructions into English for the manufacturer, thus overcoming many chances of misinterpretation.

Even if carefully written and checked over, transcriptions from English to other languages are sometimes misleading. Often the correct version does not convey the idea or thought as well as if the letter were written in the dialect peculiar to the country in which the prospect resides.

Particularly in financial matters, the agent can secure reports, approach only good accounts and help with collections when necessary.

But in spite of all these drawbacks it is possible to do a good and profitable export business direct by mail with lines which could in no other way be exported to advantage. Goods of exceptional interest and usefulness to some definitely known trade or profession—possibly not ordinarily obtainable except on special order or which must be delivered in fresh condition. Especially such goods as can be sent by Parcel Post.

The first step is to secure an agent to handle deliveries and lists of interested users. This can usually be done with the aid of the Canadian Trade Commissioner in the market to be tried.

The Commissioner should be given full particulars of the product—samples where possible—and suggestions as to the class of trade likely to be interested. He will suggest an agent and the best source for obtaining lists of prospects. Usually he can secure good lists for the exporter. As an official Canadian representative, the Trade Commissioner often has access to records and information not ordinarily obtainable. In fact, he can usually give better advice and suggestions about the market he represents than could be obtained by months of direct investigation. It is his duty to assist in the sale of any Canadian product in his market. No better corps of expert salesmen could be had at any price than is available to every Canadian exporter.

Having arranged for handling deliveries and secured a list of prospects, a carefully prepared campaign for that particular market should be worked out. Letters should always be in the language of that market. When other than English, such letters should be very carefully translated. If time permits, it is always best to submit the suggested series of letters to the Trade Commissioner for O.K. Translations are often much clearer and get better results if in the particular style or dialect in use in the prospect's country.

Full and complete description—good illustrations, showing the goods and their uses—are essential to best results. Even if it does not pay to translate catalogues or circulars, sufficient explanation should be given in the letters to make their advantages and uses clear to the prospect.

Arrangements with the agent should be made to either stock or obtain goods promptly a demand has been created so as not to lose the benefit of direct solicitation. With the help of the Trade Commissioner, a good agent should be arranged for who will supply the demand. With reasonable prospects the agent can be induced to purchase some stock or if sent on consignment to guarantee payment as the goods are sold. Once the agent is convinced there is a profitable demand he will undertake selling on his own account.

There is no doubt that many Canadian products could be exported in this way if reasonable time and care were given all the necessary details. Export markets are particularly desirable to most Canadian manufacturers to permit increased volume production—not always possible in a comparatively restricted home market. Even if such exports are sold close to actual costs, they are a great advantage in absorbing overhead costs and creating steady employment of sometimes highly trained staffs.

One thing should be kept in mind always—for the good of all Canadian exporters. Once foreign trade has been solicited, be prepared to make prompt deliveries of thoroughly dependable goods offering good value. A manufacturer who solicits foreign business only while his trade is slack in Canada and fails to give good service on foreign business during rush times in domestic trade is creating a very bad opinion in foreign markets, not only of his own concern but on all his fellow exporters as well.

Let every Canadian exporter maintain the good reputation created by our Trade Commissioners and by our most successful exporters by good service, reliable goods and fair dealing.

Commercial Intelligence Service

With each succeeding year the work of the Commercial Intelligence Service in its efforts to extend Canadian export trade becomes better known. To hundreds of manufacturers who have gained a foothold in the markets of the world, and to those who are trying to ascertain what opportunities there may be for their products abroad, the Service with its thirty-four Trade Commissioner offices has come to be recognized as an important factor in furthering their interests.

Firms who have so established themselves are familiar with the nature of the assistance which the department at Ottawa and its representatives overseas can give. Many of them are in constant correspondence by mail and telegraph, but to the firms who are looking to the export field for the first time it seems desirable to emphasize that they may entrust their preliminary investigations to the Trade Commissioners and can count upon efficient and enthusiastic support in endeavouring to secure a market for their products in other countries.

Within recent years it has been demonstrated more clearly than ever that success in export trade is not confined to large organizations. Although firms with abundant capital, large output, travelling representatives and generous advertising have unquestionably an initial advantage, there are many firms whose operations are much more limited but who have built up a satisfactory export business. Of the two thousand names of exporting firms which appear in the departmental Directory of Exporters, a surprisingly large number cannot be described as other than small companies.

To the manufacturer who is considering the extension of his business to foreign markets certain questions immediately arise. First, it will be necessary to ascertain whether or not his products are exportable and if so to what markets. Second, he requires assistance to link up with foreign firms who will handle his products and, finally, expert advice as well as practical assistance is required in order to conduct his export business as expertly as his domestic trade. It is to the potential exporter and to the beginner in export trade that the Commercial Intelligence Service can render its best assistance because, although many firms engaged over a period of years in shipping to foreign markets are accustomed to apply for various forms of aid to the Trade Commissioners, the beginner must acquire at the outset a thorough understanding of the fundamentals of foreign trade and make himself familiar with its procedure.

While contact between exporters and importers must ultimately be effected by Trade Commissioners, it is important to know what preliminary data is available in the department at Ottawa, and this may be briefly indicated as follows:

Reports from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The publications of this branch include (1) the final and definite annual report on the Trade of Canada; (2) the Condensed Preliminary Report on the Trade of Canada; (3) a report on the trade of Canada covering the calendar year; (4) the Quarterly Trade Report, and (5) the Monthly Trade Summary. Associated with the latter is a series of some thirty bulletins on the trade in specific commodities or groups of commodities. The branch also prepares a large number of special compilations in response to orders of the Houses of Parliament, and for various committees, departments, etc. For instance, last year five special reports dealing intensively with the trade of various units of the British Empire were published for use at the Imperial Conference.

Publications of the Commercial Intelligence Service.

The Commercial Intelligence Journal is the medium through which the Trade Commissioners report on trade conditions in their respective territories, the demand for commodities which Canada can produce, tariff changes—particularly those including preferential treatment for Canadian goods —and from time to time the results of special investigations in countries in which the Service is not represented. It is issued weekly and may be obtained for an annual subscription of one dollar.

Periodically, all Trade Commissioners are asked to make investigations in their respective territories into the market for a certain commodity or group of commodities. Again, the whole trade of a country may be reviewed. These are published in instalments in the Commercial Intelligence Journal and later issued in the form of a special report. Subscribers to the Journal are entitled to receive the complete report without a special charge.

With a view to placing clearly before exporters the general trading conditions in certain countries special leaflets are available for distribution on request. These leaflets deal with such features as general geographic conditions, shipping routes, banking finance and credit, business methods with regard to payment, representation by agents, prices, catalogues, patents and trade marks, general correspondence, etc. Following is a list of the principal publications available:

Foreign Tariffs Division.

The Foreign Tariffs Division furnishes information on customs duties and trade regulations in force throughout the world. Most of the enquiries received relate to customs duties and preferences. There is much demand also for information on invoicing, consular procedure, merchandise marks laws and labelling, pure food standards of other countries which have to be observed by Canadian exporters, foreign laws pertaining to animal diseases or plant pests, and other restrictions or trade control measures of importing countries.

For every country in which the Commercial Intelligence Service is represented by a Trade Commissioner, special leaflets are available summarizing the customs duties, documentation and other requirements.

Trade Enquiries Division.

In each issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal there is what may be described as a world-want department, containing a list of enquiries for Canadian goods which have been received by Trade Commissioners. A number is attached to each enquiry together with the commodity and the location of the enquirer.

Any manufacturer therefore, on application to the Department, may obtain the name and address of the firm that is making enquiry. A copy of the key to these numbers, giving the name and address of the firm, is also sent to certain Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce, and similar organizations from whom the same information may be secured. Enquiries of particular urgency and importance are frequently sent in advance of publication to firms likely to be interested whose names are listed in the department's Directory. These firms are requested to advise the Trade Commissioner when they answer any enquiry, so that he may follow it up for them. In other words, each trade enquiry is treated as a business prospect.

Directory of Canadian Exporters.

This comprises a card index system, containing the names of every Canadian firm known to the Department as being engaged in export trade. In one section the names of the firms are listed alphabetically according to the commodities they are exporting, and in the second section there is a separate sheet for each firm, giving name and address, commodities exported, foreign representatives, codes used, banking references, etc. A duplicate is maintained in the office of each Trade Commissioner abroad and kept up-to-date by periodical revision. Trade Commissioners are therefore able to furnish foreign enquirers with the names of all reputable Canadian exporters of any particular commodity.

Directory of Foreign Importers.

Each Trade Commissioner compiles and keeps up-to-date a Directory of Importers in his particular territory. It is not the practice to give out lists of importers to Canadian firms because it has been proven by experience that a much more satisfactory method is to have exporters approach the importers through Trade Commissioners. It is therefore largely for reference purposes.

Having ascertained that a market exists, the next step is to establish contacts, and it is at this stage that the Trade Commissioners come to the aid of exporters with their offer of practical assistance, which covers a very wide field. It is unnecessary to state that Trade Commissioners cannot take the place of representatives of firms who go abroad for the purpose of making a personal enquiry and selecting agents—a most desirable procedure. But to those firms who cannot or are not disposed to send representatives, the Trade Commissioners can assist in furnishing information, which may be partially indicated as follows:

Assistance that can be given by Canadian Trade Commissioners

Many manufacturers and exporters apparently are not fully advised as to the valuable services that can be rendered by Canadian Trade Commissioners. The following summary is therefore issued with a view to rendering the activities of Canadian Trade Commissioners of greater use to manufacturers and exporters generally.

Commercial Information

1. Manufacturers and exporters can receive up-to-date information through the Commercia Intelligence Journal or by direct correspondence with the Department or any of the Canadian Trade Commissioners as to:—

(a) The present and prospective demand for their goods.

(b) Foreign and local competition (with specimens, catalogues and prices).

(c) Details of best selling methods.

(d) Reports on foreign buyers, though the Department cannot assume any responsibility in any opinions expressed by Trade Commissioners. They, however, will use their best endeavours to advise exporters as to the standing of such firms.

(e) Specifications of articles in particular demand.

(f) Inquiries for goods, and by means of an efficient system for collecting such inquiries the names can be obtained from time to time from the Commercial Intelligence Branch of the Department at Ottawa.

Agents, Buyers, and Distributors

2. Trade Commissioners will also:—

(a) Recommend to intending exporters the names of responsible parties in a position to act as agents or buyers and distributors.

(b) Give every possible assistance to such agents, etc., and will introduce them to influential individuals or associations who may be in a position to buy goods from Canada.

(c) Give confidential information, when so requested, as to the activities of agents appointed by Canadian exporters, or firms to whom sales have been, or are being, made.

3. Trade Commissioners can assist in advising Canadian exporters and manufacturers:—

(a) As to the best media in which to place advertisements and the form which such advertisements should take, i.e., their adaptation to the special requirements of the community.

(b) In the display of catalogues, price lists and samples where they can be seen by potential buyers.

(c) As to the distribution of trade literature and its probable cost.

SEE INDEX OF SUBJECTS, PAGES 5 AND 112

General Co-operation

4. (a) Trade Commissioners will always be glad to receive visitors from Canada and introduce them to possible buyers or agents, or put them in touch with such experts as legal advisers, interpreters, and shipping and banking representatives.

(b) The good offices of Trade Commissioners can always be invoked with a view to settling difficulties which may arise between the Canadian exporters and buyers abroad.

(c) Trade Commissioners will at any time provide such information as may be available as to freight rates customs, port dues, etc., so as to enable Canadian firms to quote prices for delivery overseas. They will be glad also to provide information respecting cost of travel, regulations applicable to commercial travellers, packing and marking of goods, shipping accommodation, storage arrangements, and any other foreign government regulations or conditions which have to be complied with.

Financial Arrangements

5. Particulars can be obtained with regard to:—

(a) Terms of credit which may be given to foreign buyers.

(b) Financial houses and banks who will discount bills or give credit.

(c) Regluations governing the recovery of debts in foreign countries.

(d) Disposal of goods abroad contracted for but not accepted by foreign buyers.

(e) Infringement of trade marks or patent rights; and advice on registration.

Canadian Government Trade Commissioner Offices

To the majority of the manufacturers in the Dominion who are seeking and finding outlets for their products in foreign lands, the Service, in its thirty years of existence, has come to be accepted as an important factor in the remarkable trade development that has taken place.

The following is a list of the Trade Commissioners and their offices together with the territories which for trade purposes have been assigned to each:

What the Canadian Exporter can do for the Trade Commissioner

Responsibilities of Exporter to Trade Commissioners.

While Trade Commissioners are eager and qualified to assist Canadian exporters, a certain amount of responsibility rests with the firms themselves, namely, to ensure that at the beginning all possible information is made available, so that the Trade Commissioners may conduct their investigations intelligently and with a possibility of success.

The meagre information frequently furnished by Canadian exporters places a serious handicap on the Trade Commissioner in his efforts to market their products.

A general statement, therefore, of the facts about the exporter, his banking references, whether he is already engaged in foreign trade, and for what period and to what extent, are some of the essentials which should be given in the first letter either to the Department or to a Trade Commissioner, particularly the latter. He also wants general data about the commodity which the exporter wishes to sell in that particular market, noting any special advantages pertaining to the line offered, particularly as compared with well-known articles of the same type from other countries. He also wants to know exactly what the manufacturer is himself willing to do to place his goods in the new field: the basis on which sales would be made to the importer or on which goods could be offered for sale by a recognized agent, and the commission that would be paid the latter; what would be required of an importing house or agent in order to obtain the agency for the line; whether the manufacturer would send consignment stock or samples and in what quantity; whether he is prepared to advertise or to co-operate in advertising and to what extent; the facilities possessed by the manufacturer for export shipment, and the kind of supervision that is exercised by him over the packing of goods destined for a distant market.

Prices

Prices should never be quoted from an interior manufacturing point in Canada. Where quotations c.i.f. port of destination are not practicable, they should be given f.o.b. steamer, but it is strongly recommended that prices should be quoted c.i.f. This is a most important point, as the foreign buyer has no definite knowledge of the charges likely to be incurred if quotations are f.o.b. cars at port of shipment and freight rates from some interior point in Canada to the seaboard are unobtainable in foreign countries. He has no means of knowing insurance rates, or the elements that enter into the fixing of the premiums. As a rule he is unable to obtain a quotation of an outward freight rate at an inward port, as the general practice of steamship companies is to refer a request for a freight rate from (say) Montreal to Auckland to the agent in the former city, although an approximate rate may be quoted. The foreign buyer is at a distinct disadvantage unless prices are quoted c.i.f.

Discounts

Discounts should be printed, or typewritten, preferably on a folder or slip accompanying the catalogue. In submitting an illustrated descriptive catalogue to prospective customers the importer should not be placed in the position of having to disclose the exact terms on which the goods are offered to him.

Gross and Net Weight

A knowledge of the gross and net weights per unit quoted is essential. Without these the prospective purchaser is unable to estimate laid down costs.

Essential Details in Preliminary Letter.

The fullest possible information in regard to the commodity and complete details on the following points would greatly aid the Trade Commissioners in the intelligent handling of inquiries addressed to them as to the introduction and subsequent marketing of Canadian goods on behalf of exporters:—

1. Cable address, code used, and special code words not in the regular code books.
2. Bankers' references.
3. (a) The basis on which prices are quoted, whether c.i.f. main foreign ports; f.a.s. Canadian ports; or f.o.b. vessel.
 (b) Are prices in Canadian or American funds?
 (c) If prices are c.i.f. and transhipment has to be made, are such items as consular charges and disbursements at port of transhipment and/or unloading for account of buyer?
4. Are quotations firm, or subject to change without notice due to fluctuations in costs of raw material?

SEE INDEX OF SUBJECTS, PAGES 5 AND 112

5. On what quantity basis are quotations made? Can prices be reduced on quantity orders, and if so how much?
6. Are orders subject to acceptance by exporter?
7. What brand do lines bear, and are these to be sold under this brand in foreign markets?
8. What is the nature of packing? Heavy wooden crates, boxes, new bags or burlap?
9. Are lines stocked and available for immediate shipment? If not, how long after receipt of order will goods go forward?
10. What are your terms? Is there a special discount for cash?
11. What is the gross and net weight in pounds? Measurement in cubic feet?

With the foregoing information on hand, supplemented by recent catalogues and descriptive literature, and, if not too bulky, samples—not necessarily a full range—Trade Commissioners are put in a position to give the best service to Canadian exporters and can either place them in communication with reliable importers or recommend suitable agents.

The Commercial Intelligence Service was evolved with the clearly definite objective, and has never lost sight of the fact, that its main function is to gather information, make it rapidly available to exporters, and then to guide and aid them by the most practical methods to secure contacts abroad. In Canada to-day there are hundreds of firms who are taking advantage of the facilities offered and who regard the Department and its representatives as indispensable.

Trade Commissioners' Tours

The periodical return of Trade Commissioners for official tours of the Dominion is one of the most important factors in effecting practical co-operation between the Canadian exporter and the foreign importer. The Trade Commissioner can during the course of his tour call upon or discuss export problems with practically every firm specially interested in exporting to his territory. The Department endeavours to bring back the Trade Commissioners by a scheme of rotation, giving special consideration to officers in tropical or unhealthy posts, but these visits are always subject to the exigencies of trading conditions, and of the Service generally. Well in advance of the time of arrival in Canada they circularize individual exporters for the purpose of determining what special points they wish to take up and on which full information is secured. In addition to this form of publicity, the department publishes a notice in the Commercial Intelligence Journal inviting firms who may be interested in any particular territory to state whether or not an interview is desired. The names of such firms, together with those with whom the Trade Commissioner has been in communication, form the basis of the itinerary. Firms anxious to interview any Trade Commissioner on tour may do so by communicating with the Director of the service.

Publicity

The Department of Trade and Commerce maintains publicity branches both in Canada and in Great Britain. These branches are designed to stimulate internal and external trade within the Dominion, and to popularize Canadian products in the markets of Great Britain and elsewhere. During the fiscal year 1932-33 advertising was considerably curtailed in Canada, owing largely to the wide and extensive publicity obtained for the Dominion through the Imperial Economic Conference. A campaign however was carried out in connection with the British Industries Fair. As an indication of the effect of this campaign, practically all the space both at Birmingham and London had been taken up two months before the Fair was due to open by Canadian exhibitors.

During and after the Economic Conference a great deal of pictorial material was circulated throughout various parts of the world by the Publicity Branch in Canada and extensively used in a great many newspapers and periodicals.

During the year a weekly news service placed through Reuters Limited was circulated among over two hundred Latin American newspapers. This service is receiving a very satisfactory reception, and no doubt serves to acquaint the peoples of South America with Canadian affairs. In addition the Canadian Press has continued its daily radio service to Pacific liners throughout the year. This radio service is almost exclusively Canadian in character. The amount of general publicity circulated through the Publicity Branch is continually on the increase, and the demand for special articles and material of all kinds continues to grow.

In Great Britain the Publicity Branch has co-operated with the Exhibition Commission and the British Empire Marketing Board to popularize Canadian products at the various fairs and exhibitions. Prominent among the campaigns carried out was one in connection with Canadian apples. There has also been a wide distribution of printed matter and educational booklets of various kinds, while pictorial matter of all sorts, cinematograph films, lantern slides, etc. have been utilized everywhere for informative and educational purposes. "Canada Weeks" have been held also in various places, and every channel of publicity was explored to focus attention on Canada's participation in these various events.

Motion Picture Bureau

By means of sound and motion pictures, also still photographs, the Canadian Government Motion Picture Bureau is doing much to make Canada and Canada's resources better known throughout the world. The last fiscal year was the busiest in the Bureau's history. During the year approximately 1,675,000 feet of new motion picture films were placed in circulation throughout the world. Many of these were of a technical and instructional type.

The total number of films in active circulation throughout the world at the close of the last fiscal year was 4,394, representing a total footage of approximately 3,335,000 feet.

The following table indicates the distribution of films in active circulation as of March 31, 1932:

Territory—	Approximate Number of Films in Circulation
Australia, New Zealand, Tasmania	200
Austria, Czechoslovakia, and other Central European Countries	75
Belgium	75
Canada	750
China	70
France and Switzerland	100
Germany	90
Holland	48
Italy	100
Japan	40
Norway, Sweden, Finland, Denmark	61
South Africa	50
South America	100
Straits Settlements, Netherlands East Indies, etc.	20
United Kingdom	340
United States	2,215
West Indies, Cuba	60
Total	4,394

In addition to the above, many feet of films were furnished to the Empire Marketing Board, London, England, for distribution through channels at their own disposal, and also sold outright to educational authorities, Provincial Governments and other organizations.

The various steamship Companies using films for tourist and immigration propaganda abroad were also fully supplied, in addition to the extensive distribution within the Dominion, and there was considerable expansion in co-operation with other Government Departments.

Exhibition Commission

The headquarters of the Canadian Government Exhibition Commission are in London, England, in view of the extensive work being carried on in the United Kingdom and on the Continent of Europe. Active participation was undertaken in twenty-one exhibitions in the United Kingdom and stands erected at thirteen agricultural shows. Canada also took part in the International and Colonial Exhibition, Paris, and the Leipzig Spring Fair, as well as concluding her participation in the British Empire Exhibition held at Buenos Aires. Co-operation was extended to individual importers who erected and took charge of their own stands at fifteen exhibitions, making a total of thirty-nine trade exhibitions large and small in which the Commission was interested during the year.

In collaboration with the Trade Commissioners in the British Isles and in co-operation with the Empire Marketing Board, the activities of the Commission in this respect consisted mainly in supplying large and comprehensive exhibits of Canadian food products and natural resources, also immigration propaganda. In addition to the above, a vast quantity of decorative and advertising material of varied character was sent out to schools, and institutions and to bazaars and pageants, and literature in great volume respecting Canada and its resources distributed.

Analysis of Canada's Trade

Indices of Canadian Progress

A general prospective of Canada's progress in recent years is given in concise form in the following table of indices prepared by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This table lists the principal factors in the nation's economic progress for the years 1929 to 1931, and for the first eight months of the years 1930, 1931, and 1932, in each case taking the year 1926 as the basis of comparison.

The foregoing table shows a decrease in 1931 in each of the 18 factors from 1930 as well as from 1929. For the eight month periods the figures for 1932 show a decrease in the 18 factors from the corresponding periods in 1930 and 1931.

Canada's Position in International Trade.

On account of the unstable trade conditions which prevailed in 1931 there were many notable changes in the position of some of the leading commercial nations of the world in international trade. Canada in 1930 occupied fifth position in respect to total trade and total imports and sixth position as regards total exports. In 1931, however, Canada occupied seventh place amongst the leading trading countries of the world in total trade and total exports and eighth place in total imports. Canada in 1913 occupied eighth place in imports amongst the leading trading countries, being exceeded in value by the United Kingdom, Germany, the United States, France, the Netherlands, Belgium and Italy and in 1931 she also occupied eighth position (fifth in 1930) being exceeded in value by the same countries. In export trade, Canada in 1913 was in tenth place, being exceeded in value of exports by the United Kingdom, the United States, Germany, France, the Netherlands, British India, Belgium, Italy and Argentina, but in 1931 she had moved up to seventh place (sixth in 1930) displacing British India, Italy and the Netherlands. In aggregate trade, Canada in 1913 was in ninth position, but in 1931 she was in seventh place (fifth in 1930), being exceeded in value of aggregate trade by the United Kingdom, the United States, Germany, France, Belgium and the Netherlands. Compared with 1913 Canada's imports in 1931 show a decrease of $42,900,000 or 6.5 per cent. while her domestic exports a betterment of $169,100,000 or 38.8 per cent. and her total trade and improvement of $126,200,000 or 12.4 per cent.

In trade per capita amongst the leading trading countries of the world, Canada in 1931 occupied ninth place as in 1913, she occupied eighth place in 1930 and fifth place in 1929. In exports per capita Canada occupied seventh place, in 1931 as in the year 1913, being exceeded by Australia, Belgium, Denmark, the Netherlands, New Zealand and Switzerland. In 1930, however, she was in fourth place, and in 1929 in third position. In aggregate trade per capita Canada was in sixth position amongst the leading commercial nations of the world in 1913 but in 1931 she moved down to seventh place, being exceeded in value of aggregate trade by Belgium, Denmark, the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden and Switzerland. In 1929 Canada occupied fourth place in aggregate trade being exceeded by Denmark, the Netherlands and New Zealand. In 1931 the aggregate trade of the following countries per capita arranged in order of importance were: (1) Denmark, $193.42, imports $101.65 and exports $91.77; (2) New Zealand, $179.48, imports $74.86 and exports $104.62; (3) Switzerland, $179.33, imports $112.14 and exports $67.19; (4) The Netherlands, $169.88, imports $100.34 and exports $69.54; (5) Belgium, $168.41, imports $85.31 and exports $83.10; (6) Norway, $121.73, imports $78.99 and exports $42.74; and (7) Canada, $117.97, imports $59.51 and exports $58.46.

With reference to the visible trade balance, Canada in 1931, as in 1929 and 1930 was not in as favourable a position as for the years 1921 to 1927, when the trade balance was favourable to the Dominion, amounting to $392,900,000 or $41.95 per capita in 1925. For the calendar year 1931 the trade balance for Canada was unfavourable to the extent of $10,900,000 or $1.05 per capita compared with $103,100,000 or $10.38 per capita in 1930, while for the year 1913 the unfavourable balance was $222,900,000 or $29.61 per capita. On December 31, 1931, Canada stood in ninth position (in 1930 in thirteenth) amongst the leading commercial countries of the world, with reference to the amount of her trade balance, but in eleventh position (in 1930 in fourteenth) as respects her trade balance per capita.

Canada's Share in World Trade.

Canada, since 1913, has made remarkable progress in the expansion of her trade in the world's principal markets, both in imports and exports. It will be noted from the statistics in the following tables Nos. 1 and 2, showing "Canada's Share in the Imports and Exports of Principal Countries" that in 1913 the total trade of these countries (forty leading countries) amounted to $34,868,143,000, imports amounting to $18,257,000,000 and exports to $16,611,143,000; but in 1930 the total trade of the identical countries was $44,418,343,000, imports totalling $23,499,203,000 and exports $20,919,140,000, the increase from 1913 to 1930 was: in total trade, $9,550,200,000 or 27.4 per cent.; in imports, $5,242,203,000 or 28.1 per cent.; and in exports, $4,307,997,000 or 25.9 per cent. During the same years, viz.: 1913 and 1930, the trade of these same countries with Canada was: 1913, total trade, $918,208,000; imports, $355,222,000; and exports $562,986,000; 1930, total trade, $1,732,976,000; imports, $821,934,000; and exports $911,042,000; the increase in the trade with Canada, 1913 to 1930 being: in total trade, $814,768,000 or 88.8 per cent.; in imports, $466,712,000 or 131.5 per cent.; and in exports, $348,056,000 or 61.8 per cent. From 1913 to 1930 the total trade of the forty leading countries listed in Tables Nos. 1 and 2, increased 27.4 per cent., but with Canada the increase was 88.8 per cent., imports into the identical countries increased 28.1 per cent., but from Canada the increase was 131.5 per cent.; while the exports from the same countries increased 25.9 per cent., but to Canada the increase was 61.8 per cent. Canada's share in the trade of these countries was:—imports, in 1913, 1.95 per cent.; in 1930, 3.50 per cent.; exports, in 1913, 3.39 per cent.; in 1930, 4.35 per cent.

In 1930 Canada's stated imports from the forty countries listed amounted to $991,331,000 and the reported exports from these countries to Canada were valued at $911,042,000, a discrepancy in favour of Canada of $80,289,000. A large proportion of this discrepancy ($31,985,000) occurred in the movement of goods from Europe to Canada and is largely accounted for in the discrepancy between Canada's imports from the United Kingdom and British exports to Canada, due to the fact that goods valued at $22,622,000 transhipped in bond from the United Kingdom to Canada are credited in Canadian import statistics as an import from the United Kingdom, but in the case of the United Kingdom, are treated as in transit, not being included in the exports to Canada; while the discrepancy for the continent of North America, amounting to $29,600,000, occurred largely in the movement of commodities from the United States to Canada. Two factors account for discrepancy in United States-Canadian figures: (1) Canadian imports from United States include domestic and foreign export, the foreign exports in 1930 amounting to $31,300,000, whereas the United States exports to Canada (as shown in Table 2) include domestic exports only, thus the Canadian figure in this case is too large by this amount; and (2) the United States show exports of grains to Canada, amounting in 1930 to $15,100,000, which are only in transit via Canada to overseas countries, and which do not appear in Canadian import or export trade, and thus the United States figure in this instance is too large. The difference between these two sets of figures represents a considerable proportion of the discrepancy between Canada's exports to the North American continent and the declared imports therein from Canada. The discrepancies for the continents of South America ($6,478,000); and Asia ($7,215,000), were largely due to the fact that South American and Asiatic countries credit goods destined for Canada, but shipped to Canada via the United States, to the United States and not to Canada.

With reference to the movement of goods from Canada in the calendar year 1930 to the various markets of the world, the declared exports to the forty leading countries amounted to $853,350,000, while the recorded imports into the forty countries from Canada totalled $821,934,000, a discrepancy between the two sets of figures of $31,416,000 in favour of Canada. This discrepancy is due to the fact that a very large proportion of Canada's exports to overseas countries, shipped via the United States, on arrival at their final destination are credited to the United States and not to Canada. The value of goods shipped to overseas countries via the United States in 1930 amounted to over $123,736,000. Other factors, such as the movement of United States products to overseas countries via Canada, tend to vitiate not only Canada's declared exports but also the imports into overseas countries from Canada. The particulars are set out in the following table, year 1930:—

Principal Countries of	Canada's Imports from	Recorded Exports to Canada	Canada's Exports to	Recorded Imports from Canada

Canada's Trade With the World

(a) Analysis of Total Trade.—Canada's total foreign trade during the year ended March 31, 1932, amounted to $1,166,069,421, compared with a similar trade in 1931 valued at $1,723,640,743, and in 1930 at $2,393,211,652; showing a decrease compared with the year 1931 of $557,571,322 or 32.4 per cent., and with 1930 of $1,227,142,231 or 51.3 per cent. Imports as well as exports show a decrease compared with the year 1931, the decrease in imports amounting to $328,108,791 or 36.2 per cent., and in exports to $229,462,531 or 28.1 per cent. During 1932 imports amounted to $578,503,904 compared with an import trade in 1931 valued at $906,612,095, and in 1930 at $1,248,273,582, the decrease in imports in 1932 compared with 1931 amounting to $328,108,791, or 36.2 per cent., and in 1930 to $669,769,678 or 53.7 per cent.; while the exports (domestic and foreign combined) during the year 1932 were valued at $587,565,517 compared with a similar trade in 1931 valued at $817,028,048, and in 1930 at $1,144,938,070; the decrease in 1932 compared with 1931 amounting to $229,462,531 or 28.1 per cent., and with 1930 to $557,372,553 or 48.7 per cent. During 1932 Canada's domestic exports amounted to $576,344,302, in 1931 to $799,742,667, and in 1930 to $1,120,258,302; the decrease in 1932 compared with 1931 amounting to $223,398,365 or 27.9 per cent., and with 1930 to $543,914,000 or 48.5 per cent. For the fiscal year ended March 31, 1932, Canada's trade balance was favourable to the extent of $9,061,613, compared with an unfavourable balance in 1931 of $89,584,647, and in 1930 of $103,335,512; the improvement in Canada's trade balance in 1932 compared with 1931 amounting to $98,646,260, and with 1930 to $112,397,125.

Analysis by Groups.

The decrease in the imports, 1932 compared with 1931, amounting to $328,108,791, or 36.2 per cent., occurred in each of the nine main groups; while the decrease in the domestic exports, amounting to $223,398,365, or 27.9 per cent., also occurred in each of the nine main groups. The total value of each of the nine main groups of imports, arranged in order of importance, with decrease 1932 compared with 1931, was: (1) Agricultural and Vegetable Products, $128,621,260, decrease $49,007,519 or 27.6 per cent.; (2) Non-Metallic Minerals and Their Products, $102,147,347, decrease $51,431,311, or 33.5 per cent.; (3) Iron and Its Products, $98,811,706, decrease $95,121,771 or 49.0 per cent.; (4) Fibres, Textiles and Textile Products, $83,879,362, decrease $46,837,660 or 35.8 per ent.; (5) Miscellaneous Commodities, $43,440,365, decrease $19,030,855, or 30.4 per cent.; (6) Non-Ferrous Metals and Their Products, $34,301,105, decrease $26,293,929, or 43.4 per cent.; (7) Wood, Wood Products and Paper, $32,008,168, decrease $14,033,861 or 30.5 per cent.; (8) Chemicals and Allied Products, $30,731,345, decrease $4,919,427 or 13.8 per cent.; and (9) Animals and Animal Products, $24,563,246, decrease $21,432,459, or 46.6 per cent. The total value of each of the nine main groups of domestic exports, arranged in order of importance, with decrease 1932 compared with 1931, was: (1) Agricultural and Vegetable Products, $204,398,365, decrease $87,881,672 or 30.1 per cent.; (2) Wood, Wood Products and Paper, $175,740,269, decrease $54,864,205 or 23.8 per cent.; (3) Non-Ferrous Metals and Their Products, $69,072,888, decrease $26,579,175 or 27.8 per cent.; (4) Animals and Animal Products, $68,798,683, decrease $14,916,089 or 17.8 per cent.; (5) Iron and Its Products, $15,462,977, decrease $23,474,684 or 60.3 per cent.; (6) Non-Metallic Minerals and Their Products, $13,456,701, decrease $7,651,079 or 36.2 per cent.; (7) Miscellaneous Commodities, $13,367,251, decrease $4,748,595 or 26.2 per cent.; (8) Chemicals and Allied Products, $10,535,038, decrease $2,290,814, or 17.9 per cent.; and (9) Fibres, Textiles and Textile Products, $5,512,130, decrease $992,052, or 15.2 per cent.

Relation Between Trade in Raw and Manufactured Products.

Canada was not engaged to any great extent in manufacturing processes for some years after Confederation, and consequently her imports consisted very largely of manufactured goods and her exports of raw and semi-manufactured products. Since the opening of the twentieth century, a conspicuous change in the character of Canada's imports and exports has developed, a large percentage of the imports consisting of raw and semi-manufactured products for use in Canadian manufacturing industries, and the exports consisting to a considerable degree of products which have undergone some process of manufacture. Canada, during this period, has passed through much the same stages of development in her economic life as did the United States from 1870 to 1900. From 1870 to 1900 the imports of raw materials into the United States increased from 25.2 to 44.0 per cent. of the total imports; and fully manufactured products decreased from 62.1 per cent.; while exports of raw materials from the United States during the same interval decreased from 67.7 to 40.2 per cent. of the total exports, and fully manufactured products increased from 28.6 to 48.6 per cent. Statistics for 1931 show a further improvement, though the percentage of imports of raw materials is less and of manufactured products more than for any year since 1924. Compared with 1900 the 1931 statistics show that imports of raw materials into the United States increased from 44.0 per cent. to 45.8 per cent. of the total imports, and exports decreased from 40.2 to 29.1 per cent. of the total exports, whereas imports of fully manufactured products decreased from 40.2 to 35.5 per cent. and exports increased from 48.6 to 57.6 per cent. Compared with 1930 the United States statistics for 1931 indicate a decline in the percentage of raw materials imported, but an increase in the percentage exported, a decrease in the percentage of semi-manufactured products imported and exported, while the imports of manufactured products in 1931 show an increase over 1930, and the exports a decrease.

Canada, however, has not made as great progress as the United States in increasing imports of raw materials and exports of manufactured products and curtailing exports of raw materials and imports of manufactured products, yet she has made some progress in this respect. From 1914 to 1931 the value of Canada's imports of raw materials increased from $135,200,000 to $216,500,000 or 60.1 per cent., while the domestic exports increased from $272,600,000 to $305,200,000 or 11.9 per cent. During this period the percentage of imports of raw materials of the total imports increased from 21.8 to 23.9 per cent., while the exports of raw materials of the total domestic exports decreased from 63.2 to 38.2 per cent. In 1931 the percentage of imports of raw materials of the total imports was less than for any year for the past ten years, except for the years 1929 and 1930, while the percentage of exports of raw materials of the total domestic exports was also less than for any of the past ten years. Canada's imports of fully manufactured products, from 1914 to 1931 increased from $426,300,000 to $621,400,000 or 45.8 per cent., while the domestic exports of fully manufactured products during the same period increased from $115,300,000 to $352,100,000 or 205.4 per cent. The percentage of the imports of fully manufactured products, from 1914 to 1931 decreased from 68.9 per cent. to 68.5 per cent., while the percentage of exports of fully manufactured goods increased from 26.7 to 44.0 per cent. In 1931 the percentage of imports of fully manufactured products of the total imports was greater than for any of the past twelve years, except for the years 1929 and 1930, while the exports of fully manufactured products of the total domestic exports were also more than for any year for the past eleven years. The decrease in the percentage of exports of raw materials and the increase in the percentage of fully manufactured goods was attributable to the drastic decline in commodity prices, the prices for raw materials falling much more rapidly than those for manufactured goods.

CANADA'S EXPORTS COMPARED WITH EXPORTS OF OTHER COUNTRIES

Canada in the production and exportation of many staple products ranks high among the leading nations of the world. In the production of printing paper, nickel and asbestos she leads the world; occupies second place in the production of gold; in output of zinc she occupies third place; and fourth place in the production of automobiles, copper, wheat and lead. In the production of wheat Canada in 1931 was in fourth place with 304,144,000 bushels, being exceeded by Russia (production estimated at 925,000,000 bushels, the United States, 894,204,000 bushels, and British India, 347,275,000 bushels). In export trade, the Dominion leads the world in the export of wheat, printing paper, nickel and asbestos; occupies third place in exports of wheat flour, the United States being in first place, Australia in second place; fourth place in the exports of automobiles and wood pulp, being exceeded in the exports of automobiles by United States, United Kingdom and France, and of wood pulp by Sweden, Norway and Finland; fifth place in the exports of rubber tires, being exceeded by United States, United Kingdom, France and Belgium. The exports of these staple products from Canada make up fifty-five per cent. of the Dominion's total domestic exports. Canada also ranks high in the world's exports of many other staple products such as lumber and timber, fish, copper, barley, cheese, raw furs, whiskey, meats, farm implements, pulpwood, cattle, raw gold, silver, rye, oats, rubber footwear, leather and hides.

Automobile Statistics.

The growth of the automobile industry is one of the most remarkable industrial developments of the twentieth century. Thirty years ago the automobile was emerging from the experimental stage and the world production consisted of a few thousand cars. In 1929 the estimated world output was 6,277,451 cars, though in 1931 the output had declined to 3,042,069. Canada has made great progress in recent years in the production and exportation of automobiles. In production Canada in 1931 occupied fourth place with 82,614 cars, made up of 65,093 passenger cars and 17,521 motor trucks, while in 1929 her production was 262,625 cars. The United States occupied first place in 1931 with an output of 2,389,738 cars, of which 1,973,090 were passenger cars and 416,648 were motor trucks; the United Kingdom occupied second place with an output of 223,219 cars; and France third place with 196,860. In 1917 Canada's production was 93,810 automobiles, though from 1904 to 1916 the total production was only 135,000 cars.

Canada's exports of automobiles for the fiscal year 1906, the first year for which export statistics are available, were only 67 cars, valued at $63,329; in the fiscal year 1911 the exports were 627 cars, valued at $595,746; ten years later (fiscal year 1921) the exports had increased to 19,910 cars, valued at $13,979,121, made up of passenger cars 15,620, of a value of $11,376,268, and motor trucks 4,290 of a value of $2,602,853; while for the fiscal year 1932 the exports were 8,839 cars valued at $2,617,251, consisting of passenger cars 5,971, of a value of $2,557,980, and motor trucks 2,868, of a value of $1,059,271. Three years ago (fiscal year 1929) Canada's exports of automobiles consisted of 103,566 cars, valued at $43,059,733, the passenger cars amounting to 72,108, of a value of $31,264,999, and motor trucks to 31,458, of a value of $11,794,734.

From the statistics in the following table re "Exports of Automobiles from Principal Automobile Producing Countries of the World," it will be noted that Canada occupied fourth place in the exports of automobiles for the calendar year 1931, with 13,818 cars; the United States being in first place by a considerable margin with 130,705 cars; the United Kingdom in second place with 24,312 cars; France in third place with 22,684 cars; Italy in fifth place with 11,942 cars; and Germany in sixth place with 11,828 cars.

Wheat Exports.

The rapid increase in the production of wheat in the Prairie Provinces during the past decade and a half or so, and the practical elimination of Russia, Roumania and other wheat producing countries of Europe as leading factors in the grain trade up to three years ago, have had the effect of establishing Canada, up to that time, in second place as a wheat producing country, the first place being held by the United States. During the past two years, however, Russia has enormously increased her production of wheat, so that in 1928 and 1929 (according to latest information) she occupied second position in wheat production, while Canada during 1929, with the falling off in her wheat yield, moved down to fifth position in the world's wheat production. In 1931 Russia was in first place, with an estimated production of 925,000,000 bushels; the United States in second with 894,- 204,000 bushels; British India in third place with 347,275,000 bushels; and Canada in fourth place with 304,144,000 bushels.

With reference to exports of wheat for the calendar year 1931, Canada occupied first place, with an export of 194,826,000 bushels, Argentina second position with an export of 133,661,000 bushels, and Russia third place with an export of 91,700,000 bushels; and the United States in fourth place with 80,311,000 bushels. Canada's exports of wheat for the past nine years, as also for the year 1913, have exceeded those of the United States. The Dominion's exports of wheat for the fiscal year 1900 amounted to only 16,845,000 bushels; in 1910 they totalled 49,741,000 bushels, in 1920, 77,978,000 bushels; while in 1931 they amounted to 217,243,000 bushels; and in 1932 they amounted to 191,316,000 bushels. It will be noted by reference to the statistics in the following table showing "Exports of Wheat from Principal Wheat-Producing Countries of the World" that in 1913 Canada occupied first place as a wheat-exporting country, with an export of 129,950,000 bushels. Russia being in second place with an export of 121,953,000 bushels, Argentina in third place with 103,300,000 bushels, and the United States in fourth place with 99,509,000 bushels. In 1931 the order had been changed considerably, Canada being in first place, Argentina in second, Russia in third place, and the United States in fourth place. Canada having occupied first place in wheat exports for some years yielded first place to Argentina in 1929 but reverted to first position again in 1930. Wheat occupies first place among Canada's exports.

Wheat Flour Exports

Canada, since the opening of the twentieth century, has made remarkable progress in the flour-milling industry. This expansion in her flour production is reflected in the increase in the Dominion's flour exports. To-day Canada ranks third among the countries of the world as a wheat-flour exporting country, the first place being occupied by the United States and second place by Australia. Canada's exports of wheat flour for the fiscal year 1900 amounted to 768,000 barrels; ten years later they totalled 3,064,000 barrels; in 1920 they amounted to 8,863,000 barrels; and in 1932 to 5,414,000 barrels; compared with 11,267,000 barrels in the fiscal year 1929.

It will be noted from the statistics in the following table showing "Exports of Wheat Flour from Principal Flour-Producing Countries of the World" that in 1931 Canada was in third place with an export of 5,697,000 barrels; the United States being in first place with an export of 9,654,000 barrels; Australia in second place with 6,455,000 barrels; France in fourth place with 3,869,000 barrels; United Kingdom in fifth place with 2,350,000 barrels; and Japan in sixth place with 1,520,000 barrels. The exports of wheat flour from the United States in 1931 were 2,616,000 barrels less than in 1913; from Canada 803,000 barrels greater and from Australia 4,193,000 barrels greater. From 1928 to 1931 the wheat flour exports of the United States decreased from 11,848,000 to 9,654,000 barrels; from Canada from 10,737,000 to 5,697,000 barrels; while the wheat-flour exports from Australia during the same period increased from 4,879,000 to 6,455,000 barrels.

Newsprint Paper Production

Canada, according to statistics issued by the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association and from other sources, led the world as a producer of newsprint paper during the Calendar Year 1931, as also for the years 1926 to 1930. The statistics in the following table showing "Production of Newsprint Paper for Principal Paper-Producing Countries of the World" indicate that for 1931 Canada's Production of newsprint paper amounted to 4,442,000,000 pounds; the United States being second with 2,314,000,000 pounds; the United Kingdom third with 1,433,000,000 pounds; and Germany fourth with, 1,020,000,000 pounds. The total production of newsprint for the world in 1931 was estimated at about 13,200,000,000 pounds, of which Canada, Newfoundland and the United States supplied 56 per cent., and Canada alone about 34 per cent. The estimated production of newsprint paper for eighteen of the leading paper-producing countries of the world was: 1926, 12,092,000,000 pounds; 1927, 12,706,000,000 pounds; 1928, 13,235,000,000 pounds; 1929, 14,641,000,000 pounds; in 1930, 14,230,000,000 pounds; and 1931, 13,056,000,000 pounds.

Newsprint Paper Exports

Canada, during the calendar year 1931, occupied first place by a very wide margin among the world's chief exporters of newsprint paper, her exports being over six times as great as those for Newfoundland, her next competitor. From the statistics in the following table giving "Exports of Newsprint Paper from Principal Paper-Producing Countries of the World," it will be observed, that even in 1913 Canada led the world as an exporter of newsprint paper, Norway being in second place, the United Kingdom in third and Finland in fourth place. In 1931 the total quantity of newsprint paper exported by the thirteen leading paper-exporting countries was 6,568,577,000 pounds, compared with 6,220,947,000 pounds in 1927, 6,896,475,000 pounds in 1928, 7,811,572,000 pounds in 1929 and 7,378,458,000 pounds in 1930; of which amount Canada in 1927 contributed 3,763,731,000 pounds or 60.5 per cent.; in 1928, 4,413,175,000 pounds or 63.9 per cent.; in 1929, 5,030,990,000 pounds or 64.4 per cent.; in 1930, 4,665,019,000 pounds or 63.2 per cent. and in 1931, 4,016,482,000 pounds or 61.3 per cent. Canada's exports of newsprint paper, therefore, exceeded the exports of the other twelve leading countries combined by 1,306,515,000 pounds in 1927; 1,929,875,000 pounds in 1928; 2,250,408,000 pounds in 1929; 1,951,580,000 pounds in 1930; and 1,464,387,000 pounds in 1931. Canada's exports of newsprint paper are greater than those of the rest of the world combined.

Wood Pulp Exports

Canada's great advance as a newsprint paper producer and exporter since the opening of the present century, has been based on the great expansion of her wood pulp industry. Canada's exports of wood pulp during the fiscal year 1890 were valued at only $168,000 and in 1900 at $1,816,000. In the year 1910 the Dominion's exports of wood pulp amounted to 590,346,000 pounds, value $5,205,000; in 1920, or ten years later, they amounted to 1,538,958,000 pounds, value $41,383,000; and in 1932 to 1,176,256,000 pounds, value $27,685,000. The decrease in the exports of wood pulp from Canada, from 1920 to 1932, is chiefly due to the fact that year by year larger quantities of wood pulp are used in the Canadian paper industry in the manufacture of newsprint and other forms of paper, and consequently the product is being exported in a manufactured form (paper) rather than in a semi-manufactured form (wood pulp). According to statistics in the following table giving "Exports of Wood Pulp from Principal Countries of the World," Canada, during the calendar year 1931 occupied fourth position among the world's exporters of wood pulp, with an export of 1,245,074,000 pounds; the first place being held by Sweden, with an export of 4,001,555,000 pounds; Finland was in second place with an export of 2,123,206,000 pounds; while Norway was in third place with an export of 1,432,237,000 pounds. In exports of chemical pulp in 1931 Canada occupied third position, with an export of 905,854,000 pounds, the first place being held by Sweden, by a wide margin, with an export of 2,911,305,000 pounds; and second place by Finland with an export of 1,550,463,000 pounds. With regard to exports of mechanical pulp, Canada occupied fourth place in 1930 with an export of 339,220,000 pounds; the first, second and third places being held by Norway with 1,141,452,000 pounds; Sweden, 1,090,250,000 pounds; and Finland, 572,543,000 pounds. In 1913 Sweden occupied first place as an exporter of wood pulp, Norway second place, and Canada third.

Trade Balances

There have been marked changes in Canada's trade balances with the leading commercial countries of the world in recent years. In 1914 Canada had a "favourable" trade balance with Europe, Oceania and Africa, but an "unfavourable" balance with North and South America and with Asia, but in 1932 she had a "favourable" balance with every continent except the continents of North and South America. Canada had a "favourable" trade balance with Europe in 1914 of $65,032,000, which had increased to $426,719,000 in 1926, but which had declined to $95,368,000 in 1932. This decline in Canada's "favourable" trade balance with Europe was largely brought about by falling off in her exports of grains, particularly wheat, due chiefly to lower export prices. From 1914 to 1932 the number of countries in Europe with which Canada had a "favourable" trade balance had increased from seven to fifteen, compared with twelve last year. The only European countries of importance in 1932 with which the trade balance was "unfavourable" were Czecho-Slovakia, Germany and Switzerland.

The most notable change in the trade balance with any continent, from 1914 to 1932, occurred with the continent of Asia, a debit balance of $8,118,000 being converted into a credit balance of $9,755,000. The principal countries responsible for this change were Japan and China.

The credit trade balance with Oceania from 1914 to 1932 decreased from $2,603,000 to $720,000 and with Africa increased from $3,459,000 to $4,331,000.

Trade by Continents

During the fiscal year 1932 Canada sold more goods to North America than to any other continent, her sales amounting to $266,800,000, compared with $251,200,000 to the continent of Europe, while her purchases from North America amounted to $369,300,000, contrasted with purchases from Europe valued at $157,000,000. During 1932 the continents of North America and Europe took 89.9 per cent. of the Dominion's total exports as compared with 88.1 per cent. in 1931 and 89.1 per cent. in 1928. The proportion of products shipped to North America in 1932 was 46.3 per cent., compared with 49.4 per cent. in 1931 and 42.2 per cent. in 1928; while the proportion sent to Europe in 1932 was 43.6 per cent., compared with 38.7 per cent. in 1931 and 46.9 per cent. in 1928. From 1928 to 1932 the proportion of Canada's exports to the United States increased from 38.9 per cent. to 40.8 per cent., while the proportion to other North America increased from 3.3 to 5.5 per cent.; while the proportion exported to the United Kingdom decreased from 33.4 to 30.2 per cent., and to other Europe from 13.5 to 13.4 per cent. The continents of North America and Europe in 1932 furnished Canada with 90.9 per cent. of her total imports, compared with 91.8 per cent. in 1931 and 92.2 per cent. in 1928. The proportion of goods received from North America in 1932 was 63.8 per cent. compared with 67.1 per cent. in 1931 and 67.7 per cent. in 1928, while the proportion received from Europe was 27.1 per cent. in 1932; 24.7 per cent. in 1931, and 24.5 per cent. in 1928. From 1928 to 1932 the proportion of Canada's imports furnished by the United States decreased from 64.9 to 60.8 per cent. and from other North America increased from 2.8 to 3.0 per cent.; while the proportion furnished by the United Kingdom increased from 16.8 to 18.4 per cent., and from other Europe from 7.7 to 8.7 per cent. Canada's sales in 1932 to every continent were less than for any year from 1928 to 1931. The decline in the exports of wheat and flour to Europe and the Orient, due to lower export prices, was chiefly responsible for the decrease in Canada's exports to the continents of Europe and Asia. Canada's purchases from the continents of Europe, North America, South America, Asia and Oceania were less in 1932 than for any year from 1928 to 1931, while those from Africa were greater in 1932 than for the years 1928 to 1930, but less than for the year 1931, while her sales to each of these continents were less in 1932 than for the years 1928 to 1931. From 1928 to 1932 imports from South America decreased from $32,400,000 to $17,300,000; from Asia, from $32,400,000 to $18,800,000; from Oceania from $18,300,000 to $9,500,000; while imports from Africa increased from $4,000,000 to $6,600,000; whereas exports to South America decreased from $27,400,000 to $8,900,000; to Asia, from $65,800,000 to $28,300,000; to Oceania, from $26,300,000 to $10,200,000; and to Africa, from $14,900,000 to $10,900,000. For further details respecting Canada's trade, by Continents, 1928 to 1932, see statistics in the following table:—

SEE INDEX OF SUBJECTS, PAGES 5 AND 112

Exports to Principal Countries

Canada's domestic exports during the fiscal year, 1932, compared with similar export trade in 1931 show a decrease of $223,398,365 or 27.9 per cent. Decreases occurred in thirty-six of the forty principal countries; increases in only four. The decreases in the exports to the thirty-six countries which had decreases exceeded the increases for the four countries which had increases by $209,048,552. The British Empire accounted for $73,908,009 or 33.1 per cent. of the total decrease in the domestic exports, 1932 compared with 1931, and foreign countries for $149,490,356 or 66.9 per cent. The principal countries to show decreases were: United States, $114,473,889; United Kingdom, $45,202,774; Italy, $10,286,995; New Zealand, $8,963,750; Argentina, $5,663,059; Newfoundland, $4,056,785; British India, $3,915,528; Greece, $3,230,210; China, $3,214,057; Germany, $2,536,980; Japan $2,403,275; St. Pierre and Miquelon, $2,362,360; British South Africa, $1,885,444; British West Indies, Other, $1,875,533; Brazil, $1,819,713; Australia, $1,400,726; Cuba, $1,230,427; Trinidad and Tobago, $1,138,433; and Jamaica, $1,114,695; while the chief countries to show increases were: France, $4,668,563; Netherlands, $3,024,604; and Denmark, $271,188.

SEE INDEX OF SUBJECTS, PAGES 5 AND 112

An analysis of Canada's total domestic exports by countries, 1932, demonstrates that the increases or decreases compared with 1931 occurred chiefly in the exports to those countries which purchase large quantities of grains and farinaceous products from Canada. The statistics in the following table giving Canada's total exports to leading grain and farinaceous products importing-countries 1931 and 1932, contrasted with exports, when exports of grains and farinaceous products are eliminated in each year, indicate that the exports of "Other Commodities" were fairly well maintained. When adjustments are made in the 1932 exports to account for the drastic decline in export commodity prices, it will be found that, while there has been a general decline in the volume of Canada's exports the decline is largely one of price than of quantity. On a volume basis, 1932 compared with 1931, Canada's exports decline 12.6 per cent., while on a declared value basis the decline was 27.9 per cent.

In 1932 the United States and the United Kingdom took 71.0 per cent. of the Dominion's exports, the proportion for each being: United States 40.8 per cent.; the United Kingdom, 30.2 per cent. The United States has occupied first place in Canadian export trade during the past six years, and the United Kingdom second place, though the United Kingdom was in first place in 1926. Of the other leading markets for Canadian products, France occupied third place in 1932, being in sixth place in 1931, and ninth in 1930; while Japan has moved from third place in 1930 and 1931 into fourth place in 1932. Belgium has moved down to fifth place, being in fourth place in 1931; Netherlands has moved up from eleventh place last year to sixth place this year; while Germany is in seventh position, as last year. St. Pierre and Miquelon has moved into eighth place, from ninth place last year; British South Africa from twelfth into ninth place; Newfoundland occupied tenth place, as last year; China has moved up from fourteenth to eleventh place; and Australia from sixteenth to twelfth position.

The domestic exports of the United Kingdom, the United States and Other Countries with proportions for each during the years 1868, 1900, 1930 and 1931 were:—

The increase in Canada's domestic exports to "Other Countries" from 1868 to 1900 was $9,164,000 or 174 per cent., but from 1900 to 1932 it was $152,700,000 or 1,059.4 per cent. During 1932 the exports

Principal Commodity Exports

The following table giving "Seventy Leading Commodities Exported from Canada, 1932" shows that the total value of these commodities was $537,744,621 or 93.4 per cent. of the Dominion's domestic exports. Fifty-nine of the commodities show decreases and eleven increases. Eight of the commodities for which there were quantity statistics show increases in the quantity, but decreases in the value, viz.: Fish, cheese, zinc, soda and compounds, logs (wood), square timber, binder twine, and laths (wood). Ten show increases in both the quantity and value, viz.: Copper bars and rods, barley, oats, cattle, oatmeal and rolled oats, raw tobacco, butter, acids, rye, and malt; while thirty-six show decreases in both quantity and value. Fifteen of the commodities for which there were no quantity statistics show decreases and one only an increase. An analysis also shows that of the fifty-four commodities listed for which there were quantity statistics, forty-nine were entered at a lower average export price per unit in 1932 than in 1931, and five at a higher average export price. The total value, however, of the forty-nine commodities exported for which the export price was lower in 1932 than in 1931 amounted to $459,009,409, while the total value of the five commodities for which the average export price was higher amounted to $20,473,360. The total value of the sixteen commodities for which there were no quantity statistics was $58,261,852, fifteen of which of a value of $58,100,633 show decreases compared with last year, and one only of a value of $161,219, an increase.

Agriculture

To get a proper perspective of Canadian agriculture one has to consider the value of agricultural production in relation to Canadian industry as a whole. With an estimated gross revenue of $880,-240,000 for 1931, agriculture was the outstanding contributor to national wealth among the primary industries, and exceeded only by manufactures in the industries of secondary production.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics estimates the 1931 agricultural revenue of Canada at $880,-240,000 compared with $1,262,047,000 for 1930, or a reduction of $381,806,000. Decreased revenue from field crops accounts for the major part of the reduction. Rapidly declining prices for cereals along with drought conditions over important agricultural areas of the West greatly reduced the agricultural revenue of the prairie provinces, estimated in 1931 at $294,284,000 compared with $445,874,000 for the previous year.

In spite of adverse conditions farmers have maintained production at a high level. The total area sown to field crops in 1932 exceeded that of 1931 by over one million acres. Even in the intensive wheat areas of the prairie provinces acreages were slightly increased in 1932 in spite of unattractive price levels. Declines in the gross revenue of all classes of agricultural production, except tobacco, were registered in 1931 as compared with 1930.

With a return of better prices for field crops, Canada will be in a position to take advantage of the improvement, the difficult conditions of the past three years not having seriously affected the continuity of production.

The per capita consumption of eggs increased from 16.8 dozens in 1920 to 30.02 dozens in 1931 or nearly double the quantity. Total consumption of eggs in Canada in 1931 amounted to 311,396,473 dozens. The per capita consumption of butter in 1921 was 25.79 pounds; in 1931 it reached 30.24; cheese used in 1921 amounted to 2.51 pounds per capita and last year 3.44 pounds. In 1921 the per capita consumption of ice cream was 5.26 pints and in 1931 had grown to 8 pints.

The estimated gross agricultural wealth of Canada in 1931 as estimated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics amounted to nearly seven billion dollars, made up as follows:

Lands	$3,316,061,000
Buildings	1,382,684,000
Equipment	665,172,000
Livestock	468,300,000
Poultry	43,138,000
Fur Farm Animals	13,000,000
Agricultural Production	880,240,000
Total	$6,768,595,000

This figure represents a decrease in agricultural wealth from 1922 of $5,866,000 and a decrease of $1,283,915,000 from the high of 1928. The decrease from 1930 amounted to $615,644,000.

SEE INDEX OF SUBJECTS, PAGES 5 AND 112

The distribution of agricultural wealth in Canada by provinces is interesting in that it follows closely the distribution of population, as is shown by the following figures:

PROVINCE	Estimated Agricultural Wealth	Revenue
Prince Edward Island	$ 72,770,000	$ 12,318,000
Nova Scotia	152,210,000	27,335,000
New Brunswick	158,840,000	24,067,000
Quebec	1,223,723,000	181,457,000
Ontario	1,945,487,000	305,624,000
Manitoba	589,711,000	52,379,000
Saskatchewan	1,459,752,000	106,686,000
Alberta	952,229,000	135,219,000
British Columbia	213,873,000	35,155,000
Total	$6,678,595,000	$ 880,240,000

From these figures it will be apparent that it took $7.69 of investment to produce $1.00 of revenue in the agricultural industry last year.

The relative standing of the several sources of Canadian agricultural revenue in 1930 and the preceding year are shown in the following table (in thousands of dollars):

	1929	1930	1931

From a financial standpoint, despite depressions in prices, the Canadian farming industry appears to be on an essentially sound basis.

Under the Dairy Industry Act adminstered by the Federal Department of Agriculture, all butter and cheese for export must be graded, as a result of which Canadian dairy products have gained a reputation second to none on the export market. In fact Canadian cheese commands a premium over all other cheese imported into the markets of the United Kingdom.

The preliminary estimate of the Dominion Fruit Branch places the Canadian apple crop for 1932 at 2,325,000 barrels. This is nearly 1,407,000 barrels below the 1931 crop, and approximately 1,075,000 barrels below the average for the last five years.

The yield of potatoes for 1932 amounted to 39,249,000 cwt., a decrease of 25 per cent. over last year's production, but higher prices gave a value 1 per cent. greater than in 1930.

The increased popularity of Canadian fruit and vegetables, both fresh and canned, on the export market is due essentially to the grading and inspection service and regulations provided by the Government.

Fur Trade

Great changes have come over the trade in recent years. The railway has revolutionized conditions wherever its influence reaches. Steamboats now ply upon the larger lakes and rivers. Rising values have led to new processes of treatment and to the utilization of products once rejected. Improved methods of capture together with the advance of lumbering, mining and agricultural development have driven fur-bearing animals farther and farther afield. The fur-trade has taken other methods to supply the demand by renaming common and despised furs and by encouraging the use of the furs of domestic animals. Of the fur-bearing animals the fox has proved the best suited for domestication. The successful breeding of the fox on fur farms came in the period of rising prices after 1890, with the introduction of woven wire fencing. Other animals have been domesticated though with less success than with the fox—raccoon, mink, marten, skunk, muskrat and beaver. This industry is still rapidly growing, both in number of farms and in numbers and varieties of animals on those farms.

Forest Resources

In Canada there are approximately one hundred and sixty different species and varieties of plants reaching tree size. Only thirty-one of these are coniferous, but their wood forms 80 per cent. of the standing timber and 95 per cent. of the sawn timber. While the actual number of species of deciduous-leaved trees seems large in comparison to their commercial importance, out of a total of some ninety species and varieties only four or five are worthy of comparison with the conifers.

Of the total area under forest at the present time, amounting to 1,153,005 square miles, about 379,000 square miles carries merchantable timber, and 413,000 square miles carries young growth which if protected from fire and other damage will eventually produce merchantable timber. All this area is so situated as to be commercially exploitable at present. The remaining 361,000 square miles is considered as non-productive or unprofitable to operate under present conditions, although most of it will undoubtedly become commercially exploitable in the near future. In round figures some ninety per cent. of Canada's forest area is still owned by the state.

Fisheries

The product of the Canadian fisheries in 1931 had a total value of $30,517,306, compared with $47,804,216 in 1930 and $53,518,521 in 1929. These figures represent the value of the fish as marketed, whether sold for consumption fresh, or as prepared in the various forms, i.e., canned, smoked, dried, etc. The decrease from 1930 is due to a smaller catch as well as to a general decline in prices. The quantity of fish of all kinds caught in 1931 was 9,619,525 cwt., a decrease from 1930 of 1,449,555 cwt. The catch of salmon, which is the chief item in the Canadian fisheries, decreased by over a million cwt. Most of the other principal kinds of fish also show decreases in quantity of catch, although the lobster fishery, which is second to the salmon in importance, records an increase over 1930 of 28,225 cwt. Of the total catch in 1931, the quantity marketed for consumption fresh amounted to 2,173,001 cwt., a decrease from the preceding year of 204,913 cwt., or 8½ per cent. Among the sea fish, the principal kinds used fresh are salmon, halibut, lobster, haddock, mackerel, smelts, swordfish and herring. In the inland fisheries, practically all of the catch is marketed for consumption fresh, and whitefish, trout and pickerel are the principal kinds. The chief items under the head of prepared fish in 1931, in order of value, were: canned salmon, $5,219,757; canned lobster, $2,673,412; dried cod, $1,247,684; canned sardines, $810,838; dry-salted salmon, $793,516; and dry-salted herring, $776,442.

Imports

The value of fish imported into Canada during the calendar year 1931 was $2,653,894, a decrease from the preceding year of $792,707, or 23 per cent. The principal items of import are canned sardines —chiefly from Norway—and oysters from the United States.

Exports

The exports of fish and fishery products of Canadian origin in 1931 had a total value of $25,848,585, a decrease from the year 1930 of $6,020,765, or 19 per cent. Canned salmon is of first importance among the products exported, with a value in 1931 of $5,909,948, while canned lobster is second with $3,113,392, and dried cod third with $2,422,723. The combined value of these three items represents 44 per cent. of the total value of the fishery exports. Canada's fish and fishery products in 1931 found markets in 89 different countries, of which 28 were countries within the British Empire. The value of the exports to British countries was $8,821,686 and to foreign countries $17,026,899. The United States was Canada's best customer taking $11,420,659 worth, the United Kingdom was second with a value of $5,707,854, Japan third with $1,029,838, and Australia fourth with $988,877.

Forest Depletion

It has been estimated that Canada's total forest production in 1930 involved the cutting of 3,056,930,373 cubic feet of standing timber. This constitutes only the annual depletion for use and to it must be added the volume of material annually destroyed by fire, which exceeds 346,000,000 cubic feet of merchantable timber and the young growth on 1,300,000 acres. Insects and fungi destroy annually at least 700,000,000 cubic feet. The latest available estimate places Canada's forest resources at 267,733 million cubic feet of standing timber. There is a steady increase in volume taking place in all healthy stands of timber due to annual growth; this can be stimulated by the application of scientific forest management. It is now a profitable investment to plant trees in Canada under certain conditions.

Production

The production of sawn timber in Canada reached its maximum in 1911 with a reported cut of 4,918,202 M. ft.b.m. The 1930 production represents a decrease of 15.9 per cent. in quantity from 1929. The products of the group of industries under sawmill operations are compared for 1929 and 1930 in the following table:

Water Power

As a result of extensive mapping by aerial photography, the official estimate of the fresh water area of Canada is shown as 174,575 square miles in 1932, which is larger than the freshwater area of any other country in the world. As these areas are for the most part above sea-level, water power is one of Canada's most important natural resources and its development in recent years has contributed materially to swell the volume of Canadian productions, as every industrial centre throughout the Dominion is served with hydro-electric energy.

The preceding table shows the provincial distribution of available and developed water power of Canada, by provinces, January 1st, 1932. .

SEE INDEX OF SUBJECTS, PAGES 5 AND 112

The figures in the last column represent the actual water-wheel installed throughout the Dominion, which averages 30 per cent. greater than the corresponding maximum available power figures calculated as in the previous column. The figures quoted above therefore indicate that the at present recorded water power resources of the Dominion will permit of a turbine installation of about 43,000,000 horsepower. In other words, the present turbine installation represents only a little more than 15½ per cent. of the present recorded water power resources.

In 1930 there were 587 central electric stations generating over 18 billion kilowatt hours, with a capital investment of over $1,138,000,000—over three times that of 1917, which was $356,000,000.

The following table gives the distribution of developed water power:

3.—DEVELOPED WATER POWER IN CANADA: DISTRIBUTION, BY PROVINCE AND INDUSTRIES, AND PER 1,000 POPULATION, AS AT JAN. 1, 1932.

Column 2 includes only hydro-electric stations which develop power for sale.

Column 3 includes only water power ACTUALLY DEVELOPED by pulp and paper companies. In addition to this total, pulp and paper companies purchased from the hydro-power central electric stations, totalled in Column 2, electric energy estimated at about 993,000 h.p. making a total of about 1,594,000 h.p. actually developed for the manufacture of pulp and paper. A considerable amount off-peak power and surplus power is also purchased for use in electric boilers.

Column 4 includes only water power ACTUALLY DEVELOPED in connection with industries other than the central electric station and pulp and paper industries. These industries also purchase power from the central electric stations totalled in Column 2.

Column 5 includes all water wheels and hydraulic turbines installed in Canada.

Column 6 shows the population of Canada at June 1, 1931, according to the final figures of the seventh decennial census taken by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics as of that date.

Column 7 averages the developed water power per 1,000 population.

Minerals

Mining ranks third among Canada's primary industries, with mineral products becoming more and more a governing factor in commerce and manufacturing. During the last year Canada held the following place in world production: first in nickel and asbestos, second in gold, third in silver, fourth in lead, copper and zinc. The premier position in the production of nickel is not challenged; asbestos retains its major position, and Canada is assured of a prominent position among the principal mineral producing countries of the world.

Ontario, Quebec, and British Columbia are the three leading mineral producing provinces of the Dominion, though Nova Scotia and Alberta are the two leading coal producing provinces. In 1931, Ontario produced 42.15 per cent. of the total value of the mineral output for Canada; Quebec, 15.65 per cent., and British Columbia, 15.50 per cent. Alberta contributed 10.34 per cent., Nova Scotia, 9.24 per cent., and the remainder was made up of production from Manitoba, New Brunswick, Saskatchewan, and the Yukon Territory.

SEE INDEX OF SUBJECTS, PAGES 5 AND 112

The increase in gold production is the principal feature of the year 1932. A greater output than ever before is evidenced, and new properties are constantly being opened up. Base metal production is lower than for some years past owing to the drastic fall in prices of copper, lead, and zinc. Coal production dropped 4 per cent. in quantity and 11 per cent. in value during the first six months of 1932.

Considerable development work has been done on the silver-radium deposits of the Great Bear Lake area. A shipment of high grade silver ore was made to the Trail smelter and it is expected that the radium recovery plant at Port Hope, Ontario, will be into production early in 1933.

Banking

The eleven Canadian Chartered banks have, according to figures at the end of July last, 4,083 branches in Canada, one for approximately every 2,433 inhabitants, and 179 in other countries. The combination of the branch bank system with the power of note issue furnishes a remarkably flexible banking machinery, well suited to the needs of a sparsely populated and wide-spread country.

By the British North America Act the right to legislate respecting "Banking, Incorporation of Banks and the issue of Paper Money" was assigned exclusively to the Dominion Parliament. Banks are therefore incorporated by special Act of Parliament and governed by the Bank Act, which is subject to decennial revision, the next revision being due in 1933. Banks are empowered to issue notes; to open branches; deal in coin and bullion; deal in and loan money upon bills of exchange, government, municipal and general public securities and, subject to the express provisions of the Bank Act, to loan upon security of certain commodities as well as against standing timber. Their further general authority is "to engage in and carry on such business generally as appertains to the business of banking".

In the event of a bank suspending payment, its notes in circulation are the first charge upon the assets. They are further secured by the Bank Circulation Redemption Fund held by the Dominion Government. Since the inauguration of this fund in 1890 note holders have experienced no losses whatever; in fact, note holders of Canadian banks have not lost a dollar since 1881—nearly half a century ago.

While deposits are not a first charge on the assets of an insolvent bank, depositors have a certain measure of protection in the double liability clause, which provides that shareholders are subject to double liability. The record of losses sustained by depositors of Canadian banks compares most favourably with the experience of any other country in the world.

The following comparative figures (in thousands of dollars) are taken from the returns of the chartered banks to the Minister of Finance for the month of August of each of the years indicated:

These figures are illuminating since they reflect firstly, pre-war volume, secondly the situation at the time of the post-war deflation, thirdly the position in 1925, when the upward trend of business had definitely commenced; fourthly, the prosperous and active conditions which prevailed in almost every industry in 1929; and lastly, the reaction in 1930, the increase in notice deposits in 1931, and the general decrease in 1932.

It will be noted that foreign deposits have consistently exceeded by a large margin ordinary loans abroad. Call loans abroad, largely in the international money markets of London and New York, represent a considerable proportion of the banks' readily available reserves and in reality form a substantial guarantee against unusual or unexpected domestic calls upon the banks. Moreover, this line of liquid reserves is established only after due consideration has been given to all legitimate demands for accommodation from commercial and agricultural sources in Canada.

As already indicated, the Canadian banks have a considerable number of branches in other countries of the world. They have therefore been of great assistance in developing Canadian export trade and it is frequently advisable to consult them as to the credit standing of importers and exporters in the different countries, tariffs, customs regulations, etc.

Railways

Railway traffic continued light up to the end of August when an early and heavy grain crop in the Prairie Provinces produced an abnormally heavy movement during September, but with prices steadily dropping, grain shipments also declined. The index number of car loadings continued on its downward course to the end of July when it took an upward turn and advanced from 60.44 for the third week in July to 78.54 for the second week in September, but from there on there has been an almost continuous decline, reaching a low for the past four years of 59.24 for the last week in November. Construction materials have been especially affected; gravel, sand and crushed stone declined by 2,426,000 tons, or 58 per cent. in nine months. Lumber, structural iron, cement, brick and lime and plaster have also showed large decreases.

Employment

The variations of employment is one of the best indices to the current business situation. As a measure of these fluctuations the Dominion Bureau of Statistics maintains a monthly record of the employment afforded by over 8,000 representative firms throughout Canada, whose payrolls number over 900,000 workers, distributed in all lines of industry except agriculture, fishing, hunting and highly specialized business such as banking, insurance, etc. An index of employment, based upon the monthly average in the calendar year 1926 as 100 is prepared each month in the Bureau. This index during the first eleven months of 1932 averaged 87.9, as compared with 102.8 in the same period of 1931. During 1932, practically all industries recorded a lower level of employment than in the preceding year. Activity was maintained at a higher level in the service and trade divisions than in any other group, while firms in the manufacturing, logging, construction, transportation and mining industries operated with reduced forces. Within the manufacturing division, employment on the whole was best maintained during 1932 in food, woollen, silk, hosiery and knitting, tobacco and beverage, chemical and allied product, electric current, electrical apparatus and mineral product factories. Slightly greater activity than in 1931 was reported in leather footwear plants.

Life Insurance

The business of life insurance was transacted in Canada during 1931 by 43 active companies operating under Dominion licences, 28 Canadian, 6 British and 9 United States companies. The net amount of life insurance effected in Canada during 1931 by Dominion licensees was $744,282,680 (excluding $38,433,384 group insurance), and the net amount in force (excluding $497,748,252 group insurance) at December 31, 1931, was $6,124,519,541 or more than double the net amount in force at the end of 1921. The growth of life insurance in Canada (excluding group insurance) for Dominion companies for the past half century is shown by the following table:

Year	Net amount effected	Net amount in force
1875	$ 15,074,258	$ 85,009,264
1885	26,767,488	149,962,146
1895	44,101,898	319,257,581
1905	104,719,585	630,334,240
1915	218,205,427	1,311,616,677
1920	563,406,045	2,580,100,007
1925	678,948,098	4,017,930,558
1928	859,547,525	5,261,019,236
1929	900,638,186	5,721,036,174
1930	825,584,902	6,010,621,220
1931	744,282,680	6,124,519,541

Including the group business of these companies, the life business of fraternal benefit societies and of provincial companies and societies, the net amount of new life insurance effected in Canada during 1931 was over $822,000,000 and at the close of the year the net amount in force was over $7,008,000,000.

During the years 1875 to 1930, both inclusive, the life insurance companies in Canada under Dominion licences received over $2,715,000,000 in insurance and annuity premiums and during the same period have paid to Canadian policyholders for death claims, matured endowments, disability claims, surrender values, dividends to policyholders and life annuities over $1,461,000,000. Thus, for every $100 of premiums received during the 56 years the disbursements in respect of assurance and annuity contracts were $53.81, leaving $46.19 to be carried to reserve, expenses and profits.

During 1931 fire insurance was transacted in Canada by 243 companies under Dominion licences. The amount of fire premiums written in 1931 by these companies was $51,928,972, and the losses incurred $31,279,133, the corresponding figures for 1930 being $55,008,627, and $32,018,297.

Including the business of provincial fire insurance companies, we find the following approximate results for 1931:

Amount written	$11,356,246,650
Amount in force, December 31, 1931	10,885,825,626
Net premiums written	57,527,735
Net losses incurred	34,924,014

Canadian Finances

The Funded Debt of Canada is today largely owed to the people of Canada and interest payable thereon is therefore largely remaining in the Dominion. Prior to the War, Canada's net debt amounted to $336,000,000, most of which was payable in London. At the end of the fiscal year 1932 Canada's Funded Debt stood at $2,502,859,760, of which $2,012,210,212 was payable in Canada, $249,677,848 was payable in London and $240,971,700 was payable in New York.

On March 31st, 1931, Canada's Net Debt stood at $2,375,846,172, an increase of $114,234,236 from the corresponding date in 1931 and of $198,082,213 from March, 1930.

Financing Export Trade

To any manufacturer who realizes the difficulties of producing an article which fills the requirements of foreign markets, and of securing satisfactory customers for that article against the competition of the other manufacturing countries of the world, the importance given to the subsequent details of the business may seem, at times, a little exaggerated. It is undoubtedly true, however, that close attention to those details of export business which follow the consummation of a sale, are of the greatest importance. The foreign customer not only wants standard quality goods at a competitive price, but also wants those goods delivered to him within contract time, packed in a proper way and accompanied by all the necessary documents properly made out to the last detail; and if the customer does not get what he wants along these lines, he will take his business elsewhere. Documents which do not arrive as soon as the goods, or a missing consular vise or consular invoice, will cause delays and perhaps fines. A description of the goods which may appear entirely reasonable at this end, may not be at all what is required to secure the proper tariff interpretation in the consignee's country. Such incidents are so vexatious to importers that no firm can expect to secure or retain customers unless close attention is paid to the requirements of their market along these lines. For a firm whose personnel does not know these requirements by experience, it is not always a simple matter to obtain the necessary information. In the present article, an endeavor is made to indicate the assistance which banks can render in this connection, as well as banking requirements in relation to the handling and financing of foreign shipments.

Extension of Credit by Exporters

Credit is an element in most business transactions. It can be understood that it is even more necessary in foreign than in domestic trade, since more time is usually taken up by the movement of goods between seller and buyer when these two are located in different countries, and Custom House delays are often a factor. The seller who receives a request for the extension of credit in connection with a sale has three things to consider:—(1) The financial standing of his customer; (2) the custom of the foreign market in regard to credit terms on the particular commodity being dealt in and (3) his own ability to finance the business.

SEE INDEX OF SUBJECTS, PAGES 5 AND 112

The seller's bank can obtain for him a report on the prospective customer's resources and the custom of the market in regard to extension of credit. It should be pointed out here, however, that to obtain complete information by cable is usually a very expensive process, so that every effort should be made to anticipate the need for it before the matter becomes urgent. Again, the quality of the information varies. In countries where Canadian bank branches are located, it is often more complete than when received from correspondents. Sometimes, however, accurate detailed information is impossible to obtain. The banker will always do his best to advise the customer whether, in his opinion, the credit risk is reasonable, but obviously there are cases hard to decide, where the seller's judgment must be the deciding factor. Referring now to the third point mentioned above, the ability of the seller to finance the business, it is obvious that he does not want to tie up his capital in goods in transit, or in 90 days' paper awaiting payment, if he can avoid doing so. He may not be able to avoid doing it in all cases, and a certain proportion of exporters' drafts, therefore, go forward on a collection basis. For the rest, all good exporting houses have arrangements with their banks, whereby they can discount sight or time drafts on good names abroad. The willingness of the bank to enter into such an arrangement naturally depends on the financial standing of their customer, and the amount of credit involved.

Bank Discounts

The negotiation of clean bills is tantamount to making an unsecured loan to the drawers, with the added security of the drawee's name after acceptance.

In discounting both documentary and clean bills, the bank's main security, in the first instance, lies in the responsibility of the drawer. In the case of any trouble with the drawee, the bank is in a weak position unless its power of recourse to the maker is reasonably certain to be productive of satisfactory results. Drawers, therefore, must have a capital adequate to bear the loss which may easily arise from an unfortunate export transaction. The extra risk contained in export business does not lie in the greater lack of probity of foreign houses, but in the room which exists for errors and misunderstandings on account of the distances separating buyer and seller, and the difficulty and expense of conducting a long distance legal action. Misunderstandings are specially liable to arise in the case of transactions effected by correspondence. Litigation is often a lengthy and expensive process; in many cases the results are not worth the outlay.

The risk which underlies the discounting of documentary foreign drafts is not always clearly understood and it is not an uncommon thing for a firm which has been unable to finance an export shipment to criticize its bankers for their refusal to discount drafts covering the merchandise. This firm has probably been told, quite truly, that exporting involves the granting of credit. It now gets a profitable and relatively large order from a foreign house on whom good reports have been received. The terms may be sight, thirty or sixty days—quite moderate credit—yet the bank may be unwilling to discount the seller's documentary drafts. The Canadian firm cannot understand the refusal since, in its opinion, the bank is fully covered by the merchandise until acceptance, and, in the case of sight drafts, until payment. The answer is this: that this security of merchandise is often more apparent than real: that many causes for refusal of delivery may crop up, and the goods may then be a thousand miles from a good market, and unsaleable except at a sacrifice. The principal backing is then the capital of the drawer. Where this warrants the extension of the credit involved, the draft will be discounted. Firms of the class that we have referred to were probably of moderate capital, though of good standing. Their domestic business used up their resources to the hilt; and an unsuccessful excursion into the export field for other than a moderate amount might have brought them into a bad position and left a slow loan on the hands of the bank which thought it was discounting a self-liquidating bill.

Currency of Bills

The currency in which a draft is drawn depends on the arrangements made by seller and buyer at the time the sale is effected; and these arrangements will vary according to the country in which the one and the other are located. The object of the drawer of a draft is to secure a certain and definite return from it. He can best do this by drawing in terms of his own money, thus shifting the risk of loss from exchange fluctuations on to the shoulders of the drawee; or, if the drawer's currency is not quoted and dealt in to any great extent in the country of the drawee, the former can make his drafts payable in some stable and well-known currency. Sterling was, par excellence, the money of international trade prior to the war, since it was quoted and dealt in all the world over, and a sterling remittance always could be turned into gold on the London market.

SEE INDEX OF SUBJECTS, PAGES 5 AND 112

At one time Canadian exporters made great use of United States dollars as a basis for submitting prices to foreign buyers, and as the currency in which their drafts were made payable. The practice is not so much in vogue at the present time. There is only one sound reason for dealing in this way, viz., the fact that in some countries quotations for Canadian dollars are not received as frequently as those for United States exchange. At such points the importer who goes to the bank to take up a draft is liable to get a more accurate and favourable rate if the draft is payable in United States dollars than if settlement is called for in Canadian dollars. The fact that Canadian quotations are not received as frequently as United States quotations, cannot always be avoided. Unless Canada is regularly doing a good volume of business with the country concerned, it does not pay the banks at that point to go to the expense of receiving frequent exchange quotations by cable.

It is not always possible to draw in the currency of the seller's country, since some importers prefer to make payment in their own money. If this money is not exchangeable for gold, and is subject to violent fluctuations in its exchange relations with the currencies of other countries, an importer will find it difficult to make purchases on this basis. If, however, the money of his country is moderately stable, competition may tend to force exporters to draw as the importer desires.

Before the war, drafts on Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and the British colonies using sterling currency were drawn in sterling, and the same is largely true today, although for exports to these points from the United States, dollars may be used, or dollar Letters of Credit established. Drafts on the countries of South and Central America are rarely, if ever, phrased in terms of the local currency of these countries, and sterling and dollar drafts predominate. The same is true as regards the Orient.

Drafts on the main European countries were in many cases drawn in francs, marks, crowns, pesetas or whatever the currency might be; today this is not so, except in so far as some of the countries which have returned to the gold standard are concerned. Thus, a substantial international business is done in Dutch guilders, and Swiss francs and Swedish crowns are also used. So far, it is not usual for drafts on Germany to be phrased in terms of the new German mark. In all cases, however, our remarks on the wide use of sterling and dollars are more or less applicable.

Exchange Clauses

The fact that a bill is not payable in the currency of the drawee's country at once gives rise to the question of how the conversion rate between the two currencies shall be established. If this were considered a matter for arrangement between the collecting bank and the drawee, it is not difficult to imagine the complications which might arise. Would a bill for $1,000 United States currency drawn on a firm in Buenos Aires, Argentina, be settled for by the drawee paying to the bank an amount of local paper currency which, at par, would equal $1,000 U.S. or would the drawee perhaps consider settlement made by the tender of a sight draft on New York for the face amount of the bill—a settlement which would involve a loss to the drawer, if he had expected to be paid by cable? All these and other possible points of issue, are settled by the addition of a clause to the draft indicating the basis on which settlement shall be effected. The usual clauses for dollar and sterling drafts on foreign countries read respectively as follows:—

Dollar Drafts on Foreign Countries

Payable at the bank's selling rate on day of payment for sight drafts on (Canadian dollars—Montreal, U.S. dollars—New York).

Sterling Drafts on Foreign Countries

Payable at the bank's selling rate on day of payment for sight drafts on London.

Drafts drawn at ninety days' sight on South American points are not uncommon. In the case of such drafts, the drawer will have to realize that he is to lose interest, not only during the transit period of the draft and return remittance, but also during the time occupied by the draft in arriving at maturity. Thus he will have to include in his quotation interest at the prevailing rate made up as follows:—

Transit to and from Argentina and delays	60 days
Elapsed time to maturity date of draft.....	90 days
	150 days

Some drawees are slow about accepting drafts. Therefore, only experience can show exactly what loss of time should be allowed for in such transactions.

SEE INDEX OF SUBJECTS, PAGES 5 AND 112

It is advisable to include bank commission and other charges in the face amount, if the drawer expects to recover the amount of his invoice in full without deduction.

There are special customs in connection with the collection or negotiation through London of bills drawn on Australia, New Zealand, Africa and the Orient; the details are somewhat too long to be included in an article of this nature, but they may be found in the booklet "Financing Foreign Trade", published by the Royal Bank of Canada, which can be obtained on application to Mr. Graham F. Towers at the Head Office of the bank in Montreal.

Instructions to Banks

Exporters, when placing bills with a bank, either for discount or for collection, should be careful to give the bank full instructions in regard to the handling of the drafts in question. Instructions as to whether documents should be surrendered against payment or against acceptance, are so obvious that it is only by some clerical error that they are ever omitted, but there are numerous other points which are frequently not covered when bills are placed with a bank:—the omission sometimes leads to unnecessary trouble and expense. Example of what such instructions may consist of is given below:

Protest for Non-Payment / Non-Acceptance

Permit Drawee to inspect merchandise before accepting draft.

Hold for arrival of goods.

Payable at collecting bank's selling rate for Sight / Cables Drafts on.....on date of payment.

Payable at selling rate for cheques on.....Remit proceeds by cable at our expense.

Collect interest at% from date of draft until approximate date of arrival of cover in.....

Allow Drawee interest at% per annum for anticipated payment.

All charges are for account Ourselves / Drawee.

Waive charges if refused by Drawee.

Advise Acceptance / Payment by Cable.

In case of need refer to.....and advise immediately. Mail / Cable

Letters of Credit

A considerable volume of international business is financed by means of bankers' credits. When exporters can manage to have customers open such credits, this is obviously a very desirable way of doing business, because risk of loss and any trouble regarding financing are eliminated. While buyers have to pay the bank at their end a moderate commission for this facility, the extra expense is often compensated for by the more favorable quotations they can secure from sellers if payment is effected in this manner.

When Canadian exporting firms have credits opened in their favour, it will pay them to discuss with their bankers the sense and terms of these documents, if they are in any doubt regarding the provisions embodied therein, or the protection afforded. For example, the credit may be issued by a foreign bank, with whose standing they are not familiar. The Canadian bank can advise them whether the foreign bank in question is entirely responsible. Again, the credit may have a revocable provision which needs to be carefully considered. It is not possible to discuss here the varied aspects of this class of banking document, but it may be said that great care has to be exercised by an exporter to live up meticulously to all the requirements of a credit. Some of these may seem to him absurd and unnecessary, but he must remember that the bank at this end has no authority to vary the instructions in any way, shape or form. If they require alteration, the matter should be taken up as soon as advice of the credit is received, instead of waiting until the shipment has been loaded on board steamer and the documents brought to the bank.

No reference has been made in this article to shipping documents, although these are important from a banking point of view when drafts are received from clients, either for collection, or for discount or under terms of Letters of Credit. In the first case, the bank needs proper documents in order to render the client good service; in the second and third cases, it needs them for its own protection. This section of the subject is dealt with in the Royal Bank of Canada booklet which has previously been referred to, viz., "Financing Foreign Trade."

Alphabetical List

OF ALL

Canadian Manufacturers

WITH

Branch Offices, Factories, Export Representatives, Trade Marks, Brands, Cable Addresses, Codes, etc.

Compiled and Published by the
CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION INCORPORATED
14th FLOOR, 67 YONGE STREET, TORONTO, CANADA

Explanation of List

THE list beginning on the opposite page comprises the names and addresses, alphabetically arranged, of all firms appearing in the classified section of the Canadian Trade Index. In this list we have tried to give the users of the book some information that will be useful in getting into quick touch with the makers of any desired article.

No street addresses are given in Part III (the classified article section). These are recorded where necessary to complete the address in Part II (the alphabetical list).

We have not attempted to give, in this list, any full account of the products. These will all be found under separate headings in the classified section on pages 287 and following. Only where the firm or company name does not indicate the line of goods manufactured have we mentioned some of the articles produced.

The address given is that of the main place of business in Canada, usually the head office, although it may be both factory and office address. The addresses given later, under "Factories," are those of branch factories. Where branch offices in Canada are mentioned stock is generally carried at these points.

For. Rep. or simply Rep. means foreign or other representative for export sales purposes.

The Cable addresses and codes will be found useful in initiating and transacting export business.

THE TRADE SECTIONS DEPARTMENT supplies a secretarial and organizing service to any group of manufacturers who may desire to organize along lines of production and for the purpose of dealing with common problems incidental to any trade.

INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS DEPARTMENT—The Association makes a special study of the industrial relations between employers and employees.

The above are only samples of the services which can be rendered by this Association to its members. All subjects which are of interest to manufacturers are studied, and the Association is prepared to render advice concerning them. The chief purpose of the Association is to develop and extend industrial activities in Canada and promote export trade.

PUBLISHING DEPARTMENT—The following publications are supplied to all members of the Association:

(a) "Industrial Canada" the official organ of the Association, which contains information compiled from the various Departments, and also commercial news of a general character.

(b) The Canadian Trade Index—This book contains a list of all the manufacturers in Canada, with the Goods which they make. It is distributed abroad through Government Trade Commissioners, Export Organizations and other agencies.

FEES

The Association is maintained by the fees paid by members. The fee in each case is determined by the number of employees. For further information please communicate with the Head Office—

Articles Manufactured in Canada

WITH

The Names of All Firms Manufacturing Them

Guide to Classified Index

THE method of indexing the material on the succeeding pages is that by which the most important word in headings is generally placed first. The arrangement then proceeds in the proper alphabetical order. In the majority of cases it will be found that the noun or main name comes first, i.e.---Furniture, bedroom; Hardware, builders'; Leather, boot and shoe upper, etc. This allows the grouping of all similar articles close together. In other cases, where the inversion seems unnatural, the headings have been listed as they run—Saw swages; Piano hammers; Fly paper, etc., etc. If any difficulty is experienced in locating desired headings or articles, users of the book should try both forms of listing. This will enable the heading to be found if it appears in the book at all.

In all cases we have endeavored to use the names most commonly known. It is possible that we have listed some articles and materials under names that differ from those that our subscribers use. Synonyms will therefore be useful to bear in mind.

Cross references have been supplied where two or more names are commonly used to describe the same article.

Street addresses of the firms listed in the classified section are provided where necessary in the alphabetical list of names (on blue sheets) immediately preceding the Classified Section (Part III, pages 287 to 646).

Attention is also called to the French Index of articles, which is placed immediately after the Produce Section (Part IV, pages 647 to 652). In a limited edition a Spanish Index also appears following the French Index.

Firms before whose name an asterisk appears are engaged or seriously interested in Export Trade.

Corrections and revisions of these lists are made periodically by the Commercial Intelligence Department of the Canadian Manufacturers Association.

We shall be glad to have the opportunity of giving additional information to any manufacturer or user of the Canadian Trade Index. No charge is made for this service
